CAPTURE KEY POSITION TO SHANGHAI DEFENSE

Kiangsu Forces Now Occupy Sungkiang; Battle Line Is Close to Arsenal

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.—9 p. m.—Sunkiang, key defense position of Shanghai, was captured tonight by the Kiangsu forces. Its capture inflicted the severest disaster on the Chekiang defenders that has befallen them since the revolt which forced Lu Yung Hsiang to flee to Shanghai.

The battle lines in this sector tonight were only fifteen miles from the all important Lungshu arsenal, with the Chekiang leaders struggling desperately to reorganize their defenses and stave off the capture of Shanghai.

Take Up New Lines According to foreign observers, the Chekiang withdrawal from Sungkiang was accomplished in an orderly manner, the defending forces retreating through waterways and taking up new lines three miles northeast of the city of Sunkiang.

There was a general lessening of firing tonight, probably due to a shortage of munitions on both sides. The Kiangsu forces apparently are awaiting the bringing up of supplies and a renewal of their drive for Shanghai is expected not later than tomorrow.

Diplomatic Corps Holds Conference on Chang Note PEKING, Oct. 9.—Two diplomatic corps were deliberating on a communication received from Chang Tso Lin, war lord of Manchuria, relative to their note demanding that he refrain from bombing Peking.

The move is seen as an attempt by Chang to draw the diplomats into recognizing him as a belligerent on an equal footing with the Peking government.

The communication from Chang was received by the senior consul at Mukden.

Many Dead or Wounded In Fight for Shanghai Kuan

MUKDEN, Oct. 9.—Fengtien casualties in the battle to capture Shanghai from the central Chinese government forces have already reached a total of between 4000 and 5000, it was admitted today.

Several hospital trains have been rushed to the front to bring back the wounded.

Dispatches today from the front announced the capture by Chang Tso Lin's forces of many villages in the vicinity of Shanghai Kuan and the Manchurian leader's headquarters here claimed the fall of the city is imminent.

Shenandoah Flying 2000 Feet In Air On Westward Hop

ABOARD U. S. SHENANDOAH, En Route to San Diego, Cal., Oct. 9 (By wire)—Fifty miles out of Fort Worth Commander Lansdowne announced that he was seeking an altitude of 2,000 feet until the mountains are reached, when he will take the big craft up to a 5000 foot level.

The course from El Paso was outlined to carry the ship over the southern Pacific line or follow the El Paso & Southwestern further south in the event of bad weather.

Tucson should be reached about daylight tomorrow, Commander Lansdowne estimated, flying from there directly to Yuma and thence over the mountains to San Diego.

Should unfavorable conditions arise the course will be laid along the Salton sea, following the coast line to San Diego.

LABOR'S RULE IN BRITAIN SUSPENDS

King George Consents to Dissolving Parliament as Cabinet Resigns

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Parliament was prorogued this evening by King George. Premier Ramsay MacDonald's labor cabinet is expected to resign at once as a result of the defeat in commons last night on the Tory motion of censure. A general election will be held November 29.

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service. LONDON, Oct. 9.—King George today consented to dissolve Parliament as a result of the Labor cabinet's defeat in the House of Commons yesterday.

The cabinet decided to resign if the Tory motion of censure was adopted. The vote on the motion was 364 in favor and 196 against it.

The motion was based upon the government's withdrawal of a criminal prosecution against James Campbell, editor of a communist newspaper.

Makes Announcement Premier Ramsay MacDonald, head of the Laborite government, formally announced in Commons this afternoon that King George had agreed to his request for dissolution of the present Parliament.

Resignation of the Labor ministry will pass nine months in power will await passage of the Irish bill.

SHENANDOAH STARTS ON TRIP OVER ROCKIES

Giant Dirigible Points Nose Westward With Ideal Weather Prevailing

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 9.—The glistering sleekness of her long silver tinted body glittering in a bright sun, the "pride of the navy," the dirigible Shenandoah, pointed its nose westward at 9:47 o'clock today and headed directly into what its officers consider the most difficult task of the 9,000-mile trans-continental flight—clearing the Rocky mountains.

With clock-like precision, every unit and detail shaping itself in perfect accord, the great air cruiser slipped away from the mooring mast and to the monotonous droning of its five 300-horsepower motors, roared a farewell to thousands of spectators as it soared over the city.

World Flyers' Trail In the path of the road-the-world flyers, Commander Zachary Lansdowne will take his ship over Texas in a 600-mile jaunt that he expects to complete by midnight.

Ample food supplies, ballast and fuel were stored aboard the Shenandoah as she hung anchored at the great steel tower throughout the night, half of the crew working continuously in preparation for the San Diego jump, while the other half slept after the watch.

"Ideal airship weather" was the official weather report that greeted the history-making crew, with only slight tail winds that were expected to aid her progress.

Delayed 47 minutes at the field while a final inspection was made by Commander Lansdowne and Rear-Admiral Moffatt, it was a few minutes after 10 o'clock when, after circling over the city, the big silver tube took its course due west.

One man with a cook's rating aboard is the American navy's only aerial cook, and he has pride in his cooking. A tiny electric

JUDGE KEETCH IN PLEA FOR BOYS

They Need Guiding Hand, He Tells Rotarians at Noon Luncheon

"All boys need a guiding hand." That epitomizes the address made this noon to Glendale Rotarians at the Tuesday clubhouse by Judge Arthur Keetch of the Los Angeles county superior court who advocated greater interest in Boy Scout work after giving revelations of courtroom testimony regarding the youth of today.

"Cost of crime is twelve times greater than the national debt."

"Its causes are due to conditions of life changing in the last ten years with the advent of the radio, automobile and motion picture."

The author has done more to decentralize home life than any other thing.

"Parents do not know where their children are—and don't care."

Those are a few poignant paragraphs from the judge's subject and it was good to hear the report of Rotary Scoutmaster Warren Z. Newton report progress with his group. Clarence Kaighn was in charge of the program.

Visitors included President William Clark, Jack Earle, Leo F. Schrumpt and Watt Galley of Alhambra.

War Department Acts On Flying Over Cities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The war department issued today an order prohibiting army aviators from flying over cities at an altitude lower than that which would permit safe gliding in case of trouble to a landing on the outskirts of a town. The order also prohibits flying over the vicinity of stadiums, ball parks, fair grounds or other places where huge crowds are assembled.

All Glendale Fans To Be at News Building Tomorrow

The Giants win one day and the Senators win the next, but The Glendale Evening News wins EVERY day in the world series. This newspaper completely blankets all rivals with its REAL service. The fans know that—and that's why ALL of them park in front of The Glendale Evening News building, the big, three-story newspaper home at 139 South Brand, and "see" the world series right and without delay.

Today's crowd was a record-breaker. The deciding game will be played tomorrow, starting shortly before 11 o'clock, Glendale time. The crowd will be even greater than that today. Come early, fans, and pick out good places.

BOND ISSUE ORDINANCE IS READY

Civic Center Proposition To Be Acted Upon at Tomorrow's Meeting

The City Council met this morning, and, lacking a quorum, adjourned to 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the ordinance, offered at the special session last Saturday, to place the $650,000 Civic Center bond proposition before the Glendale voters on November 4, will be passed.

The meeting was called to order by A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, and was adjourned on motion of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Asa Hall.

Mayor Robinson Absent Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. S. Gilhuly were absent, in Monterey, where they are attending the 26th annual convention of the League of California Municipalities.

The ordinance to be passed at tomorrow's session calls for two distinct propositions to be placed before the voters on election day, and names the 38 polling places and the officers assigned to each. The propositions are:

1.—That an indebtedness of $650,000 be incurred by the city for the acquisition, construction and completion of a Civic Center.

That certain municipal improvements constituting a city plan be approved.

The Civic Center site under consideration is the Hare High school building and grounds, Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, has been in touch with O'Melveny, Millikin, Tuller & MacNeill, the firm of Los Angeles bond attorneys, who lately passed on the validity of the $1,600,000 issue of sewer bonds, checking up on the necessary legal steps required to place the Civic Center bond proposition before the Glendale voters on November 4.

Demands La Follette Face Borah Committee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Hotly denying the allegations of Senator Robert M. La Follette, that a huge slush fund is being raised for the Republican campaign, James A. Good, former representative from Ohio, and western manager of President Coolidge's pre-convention campaign, declared the Progressive candidate should be immediately summoned by the Borah committee and compelled to testify under oath as to his charges. Good stated flatly that the present Republican campaign was one of the most economical in history.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Emergency details of police were rushed to the "valley district" this morning to prevent a possible riot feared as a result of the lynching of a negro early today after, it is said, he had attacked two white girls. The victim, William Bell, 20, was clubbed to death with a baseball bat.

The girls, Betty Greenblatt, 18, and Bertha Deutsch, told police they were on their way home when Bell accosted them, made an insulting remark, showed them a handful of bills and grabbed Miss Deutsch. A number of men in a nearby restaurant heard cries and came to the girls' assistance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The flat roofs of Ranger were covered with skyward looking people this afternoon when the navy dirigible Shenandoah passed over the town. Schools had been dismissed to permit the children to watch the historic flight of the ship. The dirigible crew, although flying at 2500 feet elevation, were able to hear the chorus of motor horns below. The cloud of steam blowing from oil refinery whistles nearly enveloped the ship.

RETAIL SALES INCREASING IN EVERY SECTION

Month of September Proves Big One for Business Throughout Country

By J. C. ROYLE Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Buyers have the money to spend. That fact is indisputable today in view of telegraphic reports from reliable sources received within the last twenty-four hours. They have had it in quantities for some months, but what is important at the present moment, they are exhibiting a desire to spend it. Retail sales have increased in the last four weeks in practically every geographical section of the nation.

Having the money to spend, does not necessarily involve the desire to spend it. This fact has been thoroughly proved by the textile manufacturers of New England, who have led the buyer horse to water for months and have been unable to make him drink. Dry goods retailers and consumers frankly say that with the old Mississippi river gambler, "the moans of the losers are music to their ears."

In the last month, however, merchants and manufacturers have been steering an increased amount of the salt of adversity in the managers of the horses they expect to lead to water and they have found they did not have to urge them to drink.

Heavy Retail Sales This buying tendency has been borne in evidence in New York, one of the chief retailing centers, than in other sections. Retail merchants here had a wonderful

Delays Bugler's Trial As Motions Presented

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 9.—The trial of Sergeant Bugler Roland R. Pothier, charged with the fatal shooting six years ago of Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, at Camp Lewis, was temporarily delayed this morning while attorneys argued two motions, both by defense attorney, Maurice Langhorne.

Submission of evidence by the prosecution was completed late yesterday and it is thought possible that Major-General Adelbert Cronkhite, father of the victim, may not be called upon to testify. James W. Osborne, special assistant to the attorney-general, who is prosecuting the case, said he understood General Cronkhite was delayed in Baltimore owing to the illness of Mrs. Cronkhite and he did not know whether he would appear in time to testify either against Pothier or against Captain Robert Rosenbluth, held under a like charge.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN NEBRASKA CERTAIN

President Coolidge Seems Sure to Win, Belief of David Lawrence

By DAVID LAWRENCE Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 9.—President Coolidge has the edge in Nebraska. This will be disputed most vigorously at the moment by the La Follette forces, who feel, not without some foundation, that they have an even chance to win; but the factors which make a Coolidge victory probable are calculable, and here they are:

First, Senator Norris, who, like Senator La Follette, voted against American entry into the war and who is just as much a member of the insurgent group as is Brookhart of Iowa, is not attacking Coolidge. It is true that he is not campaigning for the president, but just the same a truce prevails between him and the regulars to such an extent that the Republican management is perfectly content with the status quo. Senator Howell, who has a following among the radicals, is openly campaigning for Mr. Coolidge.

Heavy G. O. P. Vote Second, the regular Republican vote in 1920 was 247,495 and the Democratic total was 119,608. Mr. Coolidge could afford to lose 40 per cent of the Harding vote which would give him a total of 148,495 votes and still carry the state because, if this defection is given to La Follette, namely 98,999 votes, and if the third party candidate also draws 40 per cent of the Democratic vote of 1920, which would be 47,643 votes, the total would be only 146,842. This would mean a plurality for Mr. Coolidge of less than 2,000 votes. The result may be as close as that here, but it is more likely to be a 10,000 plurality.

Now with the foregoing figures as a basis, no Democratic leader with whom the writer talked would admit for a minute that 40 per cent of the Democratic vote of 1920 would go to La Follette. On the contrary, the presence of Governor Bryan in the national ticket is confidently expected to hold the Democratic vote, if, indeed, no gains are made.

No Republicans with whom the writer talked would privately concede a 40 per cent loss and many

PETER HANSON PRESIDES AT REALTORS' BREAKFAST

Head of Glendale Board Cheered When He Praises Coolidge; Winifred Travis Makes Talk Before Secretaries' Division

Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty board, presided at the breakfast of local presidents of realty boards in the Palm room, Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, at 7:30 o'clock this morning, opening the second day of the twentieth annual convention of the California Real Estate association.

Forty board presidents were present and, following the breakfast, glee club numbers were given by the Oakland Realty Glee club, and talks by officials of both the state and national association occupied the remainder of the hour and a half.

President Hanson received a hearty reception as he took the chair and in his opening statements of the political situation, the assembled board leaders rose to their feet and cheered loudly.

"Needs No Change" "If this country of ours could look in upon this splendid group of leaders, it could see the men who were fit for the presidency of the United States," Mr. Hanson stated in his first words. "However, this country needs no change in its government head at this time, so none of you need apply."

Mr. Hanson pointed out to the board presidents the character of men now included in the Glendale

Realty board, stating that every department of city government and interest were represented on the board. He illustrated this by stating that of the five members of the Glendale City Council, three of them, including Mayor Spencer Robinson, are members of the realty board. In the City Planning commission, three out of five are realtors and two from both the traffic commission and the parks and playgrounds commission are included as members of the Glendale body. The realty profession is reaching a higher level every day, Mr. Hanson stated, else these men could not hold such a high place in their city.

CITY IN LEAD AS MANAGER GOVERNED

Councilman Kimlin Brings Glowing Reports From League Convention

Glendale was the first city in California to adopt by ordinance the city manager form of government, it was stated yesterday at the twenty-sixth annual convention of the League of California Municipalities, assembled at Monterey, declares Councilman C. E. Kimlin, who returned to Glendale this morning after spending Tuesday and Wednesday there with seven other local officials.

"The most significant thought I bring home from the convention is that the city manager form of government is growing in popularity," says Councilman Kimlin. "California now has thirty-three cities under this form, exceeded only by Michigan, with thirty-four."

Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. S. Gilhuly, H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent, and Virgil B. Stone, city manager, are expected back this afternoon. Councilman Kimlin stated. Councilman S. A. Davis and Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, plan to leave for home tonight. A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, returned this morning, bringing with him the honor of a position on the executive committee for the coming year.

Long Beach will be the convention city next year, it was voted yesterday afternoon. Norman E. Malcolm, city attorney of Palo Alto, was named president, succeeding Charles N. Kirkbridge. Councilman Fred Wheeler of Los Angeles was named vice president and H. A. Mason, secretary-treasurer, was continued in office.

Labor Cabinet Resigns; Parliament to Dissolve boundary bill, which may come today.

When he left his official residence for the palace today, Premier Macdonald was accompanied by his secretary, Rosa Rosenberg. A little knot of early workers stood silently at the curb. J. P. Clyne, the Labor leader, walked up Downing street as the premier appeared and thrust out his hand in a warm clasp of encouragement.

There were no cheers as the premier entered the big limousine which waited at the curb and was borne away toward the palace. The scene was in sharp contrast to the triumphant demonstration of nine months ago, when Labor's first premier walked to the palace to accept the premiership. Lord Stamfordham received Premier Macdonald and escorted him to the king.

In an interview granted before his audience at the castle, Premier Macdonald said:

"I regret the turn of events, but it is not of our seeking. It has been forced on us. We would have been glad if we had been able to carry on our policy, which I believe was for the promotion of the commonwealth."

"A demonstration marked his departure from the palace after three-quarters of an hour in conference with the king. Crowds cheered the premier as he drove back to Downing street. The streets along the way were crowded by this time.

Clynes later told the annual labor conference, now in session:

"We were unable to get fair treatment from Commons last night, but we are getting it from the throne today in authority for the dissolution of Parliament."

Opposition newspapers had urged that the king deny "the right of a minority to dissolve parliament."

Election November 8. According to present plans, Parliament will be prorogued October 20, nominations will be made October 29, and the election held November 8.

The election falls at an unfavorable time for the Labor party. Unemployment is mounting. The cost of living has ascended in the nine months of Labor rule.

Last night's defeat was the eleventh suffered by Premier Macdonald. He followed the adverse vote by the immediate suggestion of adjournment.

Tomorrow's Contest to Decide World Series was a fine running capture of Nehf's looping fly along the foul line in the fifth.

Equal to Crisis. The Giants hit only four balls out of the infield against Zachary during the last five innings. With one out of the way in the ninth, Zachary forced Kelly to hit to Judge, but the latter ran away from the ball while laboring under the misapprehension that he should cover first on the play. As a result Kelly got a tainted hit and the Giants had the tying run on first. But Zachary was equal to the crisis. Meusel's smash to second was converted into a forced play by Peck's fine stop and throw to Harris. Then Zachary fanned Wilson for the final out. Peck's effort was a costly one, however, he again wrenching his leg in tossing to Harris and was forced to leave the game. Whether he will be able to play tomorrow is problematical.

Good Night!

When capitalism's been shattered,
And shattered to the very last root;
When all of the banks have been plundered,
And everyone's shared in the loot,
We shall pause—though a trifle belated—
And say, with a sad, hungry sob:
"We're done with the old rotten system—
Now, I wonder who'll give us a job?"

And those who were slobs shall be bosses,
They shall sit in the master's chair,
Although they have nothing for breakfast
And nothing whatever to wear;
They shall wander at will through the mansions
Where tyrants once thronged in the hall;
They shall ring to have dinner at seven,
But no one will answer the call.

And only the people shall suffer,
And only the people will weep,
And no one shall work for money,
And no one shall sow or reap;
But each in his corner shall shiver
And think how much better they fare
With the System of All-having-nothing
Than of some having more than their share.

and Ideals of a Realty Board," pointing out the great opportunity which lies ahead for the realtors.

Henry P. Barbour, president of the state association, gave a few words of greeting, and in doing so lauded the presidents of the many realty boards for the good work they were doing.

At 9 o'clock the 1200 realtors adjourned to the Shakespeare club room to listen to talks on various topics. Ralph P. Merritt, president of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' association, Fresno, spoke on "What Economic Changes Will Increase California Farm Prosperity." W. L. Hollingsworth spoke on "Colorado Flood Control." John Willis Baer, of Pasadena, spoke on "The Banker and Realtor as Community Builders." Before the noon adjournment George Hope, president of the California Land Title association, spoke on title insurance from the viewpoint of the agent and owner.

The general luncheon was held at 12:15 o'clock and this afternoon was being given over to additional talks by prominent realtors. Tonight judges will decide the winners of some of the contests, including the home town contest for the Fred E. Reed cup.

Miss Winifred Traver, secretary of the Glendale board, spoke to the secretaries' division on the subject, "How We Keep Our Members Enthusiased and Collect Dues." Miss Travis gave an interesting report which follows:

"Our membership at the present time is 102. During the year it has varied from 90 to 117, and our average attendance at our weekly luncheon meetings held every Wednesday throughout the year has been sixty."

To Gain Success. "To make a success of any business, and a realty board must first be on a successful business basis, there are three fundamental requirements; you must have organization to make accomplishment possible; you must have officers, men of vision, able to guide and direct that accomplishment; and you must have the loyalty of every member to the officers and to the organization, to furnish power for accomplishment. The officers and organization are there but to serve the board membership, and without this power they will fall short."

"With a realization of these basic truths, officers have tried to create and to hold this all-important spirit of enthusiasm and interest; using for this purpose the weekly luncheon meetings, board office service, social gatherings, and civic development."

"A realtor is of necessity a man of action. And to hold interest at our meetings we must have action; something doing all the time. To best accomplish this every member should have something to do, and in so far as is possible, something that he likes to do. The committee appointed at the beginning of each year cannot be too carefully chosen. For, as your committee function, so will your board function throughout the year."

Educational Program. "We give to our program, lunch and educational committees due credit for their part in the success of our weekly meetings. Using Fisher's 'Principles of Real Estate Practice' as a foundation our educational committee arranged and carried out a course of fourteen lectures, delivered at the weekly meetings during the first half of this year. And while the program committee has given many splendid programs, these meetings, with our own local members as speakers, were among the best attended and most enthusiastic meetings of the year."

"The lunch committee working on the vital problem of getting every member out to every meeting, appointed captains, each with lieutenants under him, responsible for calling a certain number of members every Wednesday. In this way every member had a personal reminder of the meeting in addition to the bulletin notice, and no one member of the committee spent much time in phoning."

"The first meeting of each month we have reserved for a business meeting. The program committee has taken general charge of all other meetings, arranging for a speaker at least once each month, with an occasional open forum meeting. And no board can afford to overlook the wonderful opportunities presented by the forum meeting, open for general discussion and suggestions."

Service to Members. "The board office we consider the clearing house for the board and service to members' the slogan. Through it come all notices of general interest, reports of directors, and committee chairmen and by general bulletin, issued two or three times each week. Through the board office also come many suggestions and sometimes complaints. And both receive careful consideration for there is no surer way of holding interest, than response to interest shown. From our board office also go out daily our multiple listing cards and bulletins, and this is a service that may be of real financial benefit to the member who can and will co-operate."

"Nor have we overlooked the social side of our board life. Any organization, as any individual, needs some play to keep from growing dull. Through the social meetings, acquaintances are made and a spirit of friendliness created which is of great value. We have tried various forms of entertainment, special programs, dances, jinks days, dinners and picnics and have found that all were thoroughly enjoyed. Much latent ability has been discovered among our members, and we have found the social program furnished by our own local talent most successful. A little of this jolly good time idea is also in evidence at almost every weekly meeting and we like it."

Aids in Civic Work. "The civic work of the board is one of the strongest ties binding the members together, and one of the surest ways of creating enthusiasm. In January of this year the Glendale board played a very important part in putting across a sewer bond issue, and the loyalty and enthusiasm aroused in this campaign were an inspiration for many weeks after the campaign was completed. The vision and outlook gained in forgetting self and working for a common good, benefit collectively and individually more than can be estimated and the city benefits thereby. Civic pride is essential to a strong board and no city can grow as it should without the help of the realtor and the local realty board."

In conclusion, I would like to stress the thought that while the power for successful achievement comes through the board membership, due acknowledgment should be given to board presidents and officers, who, working without recompense, give so much of themselves and of their time to the work; to the state association, working for our common good; and to the high standards required by the code of ethics of our great National Association of Real Estate Boards."

well-informed men were canvassed in Lincoln as well as Omaha, who honestly tried to assess the situation.

The big, uncertain factor in Nebraska, of course, is the German vote. If all the men with whom this correspondent discussed this problem could have agreed on one essential fact, namely: How did the Germans vote before the war issue arose, then there would be no difficulty in coming to a conclusion on what is going to happen.

The Republicans who believe the German vote has always been Democratic, because the Democrats used to be "wet" and most of the Germans voted "wet," are not worrying about the drift of the German vote to La Follette.

Democrats Hopeful. The Democrats who insist the Germans have recently been Republican, think the loss to Coolidge will be so great when the Germans vote for La Follette that Davis will come to the front with a small plurality and capture Nebraska's electoral vote.

It is true that among the Germans about 100,000 of them voted as a bloc in 1920 on the Republican ticket, but many of them turned around in 1922 and helped Governor Bryan carry the state by 50,000 in the very same election. These Germans administered a defeat to Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, for being faithful to Wilson.

SCHOOLS PAY TRIBUTE TO COLUMBUS

Broadway High Celebrates
Discovery of America
With Big Program

The discovery of America was pre-commemorated this morning at the Broadway High school by a special Columbus day assembly, with Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, as the featured speaker. As Columbus day this year falls on Sunday, October 12, it was decided by George U. Moyses, Glendale Union High school principal, to hold the exercises this morning.

Mr. Keppel stressed the fact that today there are opportunities for discovery in many fields as great as those in Columbus' day. He closed his remarks with a plea to the people of the Pacific coast that the decay which has ruined other nations be checked, that civilization may not perish.

The assembly opened with "America" by the student body orchestra, followed by the pupils in the flag salute, then "Star Spangled Banner" by the orchestra, after which Mr. Keppel delivered his address. He was followed by the Boys' Glee club in "America Triumphant," with a concluding march by the orchestra. The program was arranged by George O. Lockwood, chairman of the faculty committee on special programs.

stove suffices to prepare the simple meals. He has an ideal job, for the plates, cups and spoons are made of paper. They are thrown away after the meal. Water is not abundant, although there is sufficient for a daily shave and to wash the hands and face.

Night Flights Difficult. Bringing an airplane through the night into an uncharted port, such as the experience at Fort Worth, has all the hazards experienced by the venturesome explorers who steered their crafts into new harbors in exploration of the world centuries ago. The observations of tide and depth which the salt water skipper made must also be made by the navigator of the air. Each man on the ship has a landing stand along the narrow keel or in a certain section of the craft where he must stand when landing is made, so that she ship will be balanced. In taking off, water ballast is dropped by the hundreds of gallons, letting "it slowly rise until the last adjustment" is made and the anchor cast off from the top of the mast.

Making a landing requires the same detail reversed and the ship must be headed into the tower against the wind. From her nose a cable is dropped and connected with the tower, while a power-whirl draws her down to the mast.

Truck Driver Held on Drunk Driving Charge

H. Schindeldecker of 1336 Canfield street, driver for a local creamery, is held at police headquarters in $500 bail, charged with operating a motor car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, pending a hearing this afternoon before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court.

Auxiliary Card Party To Be Held at Temple

Luncheon and card party will be given Friday, October 10, by the Electa auxiliary in the home of Mrs. Luella Emerick, 464 West Elk avenue, instead of at the Masonic temple, as previously announced. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock.

Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital

Special Correspondence

Tonight, October 9, at 6:40 o'clock, the senior class of nurses will conduct a public health program and poster display in the sanitarium parlor.

Dr. F. E. Herzog, recently of Manila, Philippine Islands, has connected with the Glendale sanitarium as head of the laboratory department.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Daniels of Washington, D. C., who have been at the sanitarium the greater part of the summer, left for the east Wednesday evening. They plan to spend a week at Des Moines, Iowa, before returning to the capital.

Mrs. C. J. Aggersgaard, mother, and little daughter, left Wednesday for their home in Big Creek, Calif. Mrs. Aggersgaard plans to return to the sanitarium within the coming week.

Dr. Clemen Hamer has joined the medical staff of the Glendale sanitarium and will divide his attention between this institution and the hospital branch.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Howard, 3855 Brunswick, Los Angeles, a son.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Oct. 9.—At yesterday's business meeting of the Verdugo Hills Merchants' association the members voted to change the meeting day to Tuesday instead of Wednesday as heretofore. New members voted in were T. A. Cobb of the Cobb grocery, Verdugo City; Tajuana Paint Co., Claihome Jewelry Co. of Montrose and the Stewart Motor Co., Montrose, and the Montrose Auto Supply Co. Meetings will be held at the MacKay Hill-side terrace on the northwest corner of Michigan and Los Angeles avenues. Application for membership may be left with J. W. Farrand in the new store building on the corner of Michigan and Los Angeles avenues.

Frank B. Romo, realtor and subdivider of La Crescenta valley, was found dead in the bath room of his Michigan avenue home yesterday morning. Mr. Romo was apparently in the best of health when he arose at his usual hour but was stricken with apoplexy. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Smart of Los Angeles avenue. The body is at the Kiefer & Eyler parlors in Glendale, awaiting funeral arrangements.

Mrs. A. F. Hopkins underwent a major operation at the Uttley Sanatorium yesterday morning. Mrs. Hopkins is resting easily at present, but will not be allowed to see visitors until next week.

Members of the Guild of St. Luke of the Mountains met at the home of Mrs. Emily Soles in Woodleigh lane, Flintridge, to sew and make articles for the coming bazaar to be given in the new church at the corner of Michigan and Rosemont avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas of Culver, Ind., were hosts at tea to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Millikan and son, Robert, Jr. Dr. Millikan has just returned from abroad where he went to receive the Nobel prize awarded for scientific research. Other guests were Arthur Fleming and Mrs. Lucien Brunswick and Mr. and Mrs. G. Broder of Los Angeles.

Verdugo Hills L. O. O. F. will meet on Monday night at the Fowler Chevrolet agency for a short session only, so that members may attend the La Crescenta Mutual Water Co. meeting.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Oct. 9.—The public meeting for the discussion of "Our City" has been definitely set for October 17, at 7:30 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Thomas A. Edison school, announces Manager J. W. Charleville of the local Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the affair is to be held.

Invitations to make five minute talks at the meeting, have been addressed to each of the City Trustees; the city engineer; Judge A. A. Crawford; the members of the Burbank Planning commission and the Park and Forestry commission, while the Chamber of Commerce will be represented. Each of these is expected to tell something about Burbank that comes directly within their particular province, and so contribute to the sum total of information and entertainment.

Over 200 people attended the big picnic given yesterday afternoon at Brookside park, Pasadena, for the management of the Burbank schools, including the trustees, teachers, janitors and all their families. The picnicers assembled at the Thomas A. Edison school at 3 o'clock and motored to the park in a caravan. At 6 o'clock a picnic dinner was served. Later a program of music and talks was enjoyed.

Mrs. Y. E. Thompson of 926 Verdugo avenue has been called to Rockwell, Iowa, by the serious illness of her mother. She left for the east accompanied by her sister from San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fiske of Shelton street have returned from a pleasant three-month trip to Cresco, Iowa, where they visited old-time friends. Muddy, rough roads were encountered and the Lincoln highway is badly torn up. Mr. Fiske reports. The most comfortable riding of the trip was on the California roads, he said.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Oct. 9.—The Women's Twentieth Century club opened its season today with Mrs. Mary D. Fiske, president, as the luncheon speaker. The afternoon address was made by Miss Lloy Galpin, on the topic "A Triumph of Intelligence." A program of songs, including "Bowl song" leader, led in community singing.

The first dance in the new Masonic temple is scheduled for Saturday night, October 11. The location of the building is 5016 Casper avenue. Excellent music is promised by those in charge.

The following schedule of P. T. A. meetings is announced: Eagle Rock school, second Wednesday, 2:30 p. m.; Dahlia Heights school, third Friday, 3 p. m.; San Rafael school, second Friday, 3 p. m.; Toland Way school, second Friday, 2:30 p. m.; Rockdale school, Friday, 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. J. C. Reiter, acting secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, president of the Eagle Rock P. T. A., wants a lot of odds and ends for the Harvest Home festival "fish pond."

"Haven't you some things lying around the house you can't possibly use?" she asks. "Aren't there a lot of things always cluttering up shelves and filling the nooks and crannies that every house has, things that are always getting in your way? Well, gather them all together and donate them to the P. T. A."

Mr. and Mrs. George Lockman of La Roca avenue, have come back from a two months' auto trip to Seattle, combining business and pleasure.

Prominent Speakers From L. A. Club to Give Talks At Feature Dinner

Glendale advertising club members are anticipating a feature dinner meeting at 6 o'clock next Tuesday night at the Alley Inn on South Brand boulevard. Three speakers prominent in Los Angeles advertising club affairs are to be honored guests and speakers. Community singing will be led by Charlie Estey, also of the Los Angeles club.

Ray E. Nimmo, past president of the Los Angeles club, and attorney and counselor of the Los Angeles Better Business Bureau, will speak. His subject is "The Better Business Bureau, How It Works and What It Does."

Arthur D. Loomis, another past president of the Los Angeles club, certified public accountant, and president of the firm of Loomis & Dow, is to present "Club Activities and the Things That Make the Advertising Club a Force in Business."

Miller to Preside
The subject announced for Don Francisco, past president of the Los Angeles club, past president of the Pacific Advertising Clubs association, and co-manager of Lord & Thomas, national advertising agency of Los Angeles, is "The Associated Advertising Clubs Movement on the Pacific Coast and in the Nation, What It Means to the Local Club."

Henry E. Miller, chairman of the club contest committee, will preside over the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kriederman and two children of Eagle Rock were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour G. Smith of 115 West Wilson avenue Sunday. In the afternoon the party moved to Claremont. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Newport were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Tuesday night.

Two Juvenile Dancers

MARIE LOUISE BROWN and JOHN BLADES, who will present the "Adoration Waltz" in the dance revue to be staged October 23 at a local theatre by pupils of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art. Ballroom classics will be a feature of the revue.

Marie Louise Brown and John Blades, juvenile dancing partners are presenting the "Adoration Waltz" in the ball room classes, conducted in the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art, by Mr. and Mrs. Jules W. Swart.

This clever dance is to be a big feature of the annual children's society vaudeville, presented October 23 at a local theatre by pupils of the Pearl Keller school. The two children giving the dance are members of the juvenile ball room department, which meets at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Keller studio in South Central avenue, at the intersection with Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Swart are taking great interest in this phase of their work and are being highly praised by parents who realize the many advantages of giving their children ball room instruction.

A special class for young people of high school age is conducted Thursday nights at 7:30 o'clock. On Friday nights there is a beginners' class for adults at 7:45 o'clock, and an advanced class at 9 o'clock. Private instruction is given daily by appointment.

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

Glendale is getting a great deal of favorable publicity from the California real estate convention being held in the neighbor city, Pasadena.

Attendance at the divisional sessions by local dealers and salesmen will be beneficial, for real progress is outlined at these meetings. There is something to be learned almost every minute and the entertainment features are promoting fellowship and sportsmanship among members of the profession which will prove valuable.

From perfunctory statements, Compton has allowed the motorcycle patrol situation to get out of bounds. Officers are charged with practices which should not be permitted in American communities.

And yet there is a more or less redeeming story told of several people's experiences in Compton. Arrested for speeding and disturbing the peace, the Compton judge fined them collectively $250. Protesting they could not pay such a sum, he tried to collect $125. Still adamant, the "solid seven" declared they couldn't pay and the mayor stepped into the courtroom and said they had a perfect right to "sing." The motor cop added that their speeding might have been more aggravating and the judge dismissed the case.

The writer records this Compton incident to show that motor officers and police officials are only human. Sometimes they err, sometimes they allow personal grievances to interfere with duty. And you can't help getting provoked at the fellow who trails you.

All of which reminds us of the story told by Oney Fred Sweet, Chicago Tribune reporter, who tried his hand at dog-catching. He didn't dodge bricks fast enough and he could not corral the dogs quick enough before he was bitten, so he quit the job. And now he holds highest admiration for successful dog-catchers.

Those who criticize the motor cops might be less fault-finding if they could hold down the latter's job for a day.

AMERICANS IN EUROPE

When Germany is restored to industrial health it will be a benefit to the whole world, and if the Dawes plan should prove finally workable it will be a notable achievement for the Americans who have been trying to help Europe out of her chaos, according to the American Review of Reviews. This journal goes on to say, "To glance at a list of these Americans and what they have been doing during the past year is very impressive and a sufficient answer to any reproach of wilful and selfish isolation. It was our secretary of state, Mr. Hughes, who last year proposed the plan for a committee of experts to examine into Germany's ability to pay reparations and to formulate a program for her economic restoration. It was General Dawes, Owen Young, chairman of the General Electric Co., and Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, who were the American members of the committee of experts who labored at Berlin and Paris during the four months of this year to produce the Dawes plan now taking its accepted place as the one hope for Germany and Europe. Appointed under that plan, Clarence M. Wooley, head of the American Radiator Co., is to be one of the arbitrators in the transfer of reparations payments. Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the Mechanics & Metals Bank of New York, is to be the American director of the new German Bank of Issue. Owen Young will be the first Agent-General for Reparations, though after organizing the work he must return to his duties in America, turning over this all-important post to S. Parker Gilbert, Jr. Secretary Hughes himself has been active in London and in Continental Europe this summer, with advice and help for the formidable task of getting general acceptance of the Dawes plan. Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., was at hand in London to help guide the provisions for the German loan. Our secretary of the treasury, Mr. Mellon, also took part, and a very real and helpful part, particularly in Paris, where there was not too much enthusiasm for a French share of the coming German loan. The leaders of the League of Nations put forward three of its achievements as outstanding: The World court and the economic regeneration of Austria and of Hungary. On September 9 Jeremiah Smith, the American Commissioner-General of Hungary, gave at Geneva an account of the financial rehabilitation of that country along lines devised by Elihu Root. Mr. Smith had arrived at his task in Hungary on May 1; on June 24 inflation was ended and a stable currency established."

PUBLIC OPINION MIGHTY

Those who complain of evils of government should remember the old adage that "any people is as well governed as it deserves." This could not be applied to monarchies but is particularly adapted to democracies. In a democracy the people are the government. If they are not, it is their own fault. If they are too indifferent to bestir themselves they have no cause to complain.

There is so much said about special interests having entrenched themselves in high places. If that is true it is because the people tolerate their domination. It is so easy to complain that political bosses are in control of the government and the people can't do anything about it. The sword of public opinion is mighty to destroy any evil, but when the people are too apathetic to draw the sword they should not bewail conditions.

First of all, find out whether the charges you are making are really true or whether they are propaganda being spread by those who have axes to grind. To hear some people talk and to read certain newspapers and journals one would think the United States about ready to collapse and that the citizenship would make no effort to prevent its downfall. The whole thing is propaganda, spread for God knows what purpose. The United States is almost the only country in the world where there is peace, prosperity and stability. The majority of her citizens are patriotic and revere the flag and the constitution. Just the other day a man looked at the flag floating in the breeze and remarked, "Could anything be prettier? It would seem that those who designed that flag and those who framed our Constitution and wrote our Declaration of Independence were divinely guided." That is the way the most of the people of the United States feel. The trouble is they keep quiet about it. We hear only those who are spreading propaganda.

LET REASON REIGN

Now that political argument is rife it is interesting to study the methods of those who are trying to persuade others to adopt their principles and vote for their candidates.

First, there is the man who starts suavely with the premise that he is right and his opponent all wrong. His stand savors too strongly of pure and unadulterated egotism that he is not given any consideration. In the same class is the man who becomes angry at the very idea that anyone should advance an opinion contrary to his. He never wins any converts, of course. And the one who is positive, arbitrary and radical and will not consider the arguments of his opponent is a very poor advocate for any cause. He will make enemies for it rather than friends.

The one who is successful in debate and who wins adherents to his cause is reasonable, tolerant and complaisant. He knows there are two sides to every question, and he gives his adversary credit for some intelligence. When one is so intensely partisan, dogmatic or intolerant of others' views either in politics, religion or for any cause, that he will not consider any argument that conflicts with his own principles, he will frighten away those who might otherwise listen to him and learn from him.

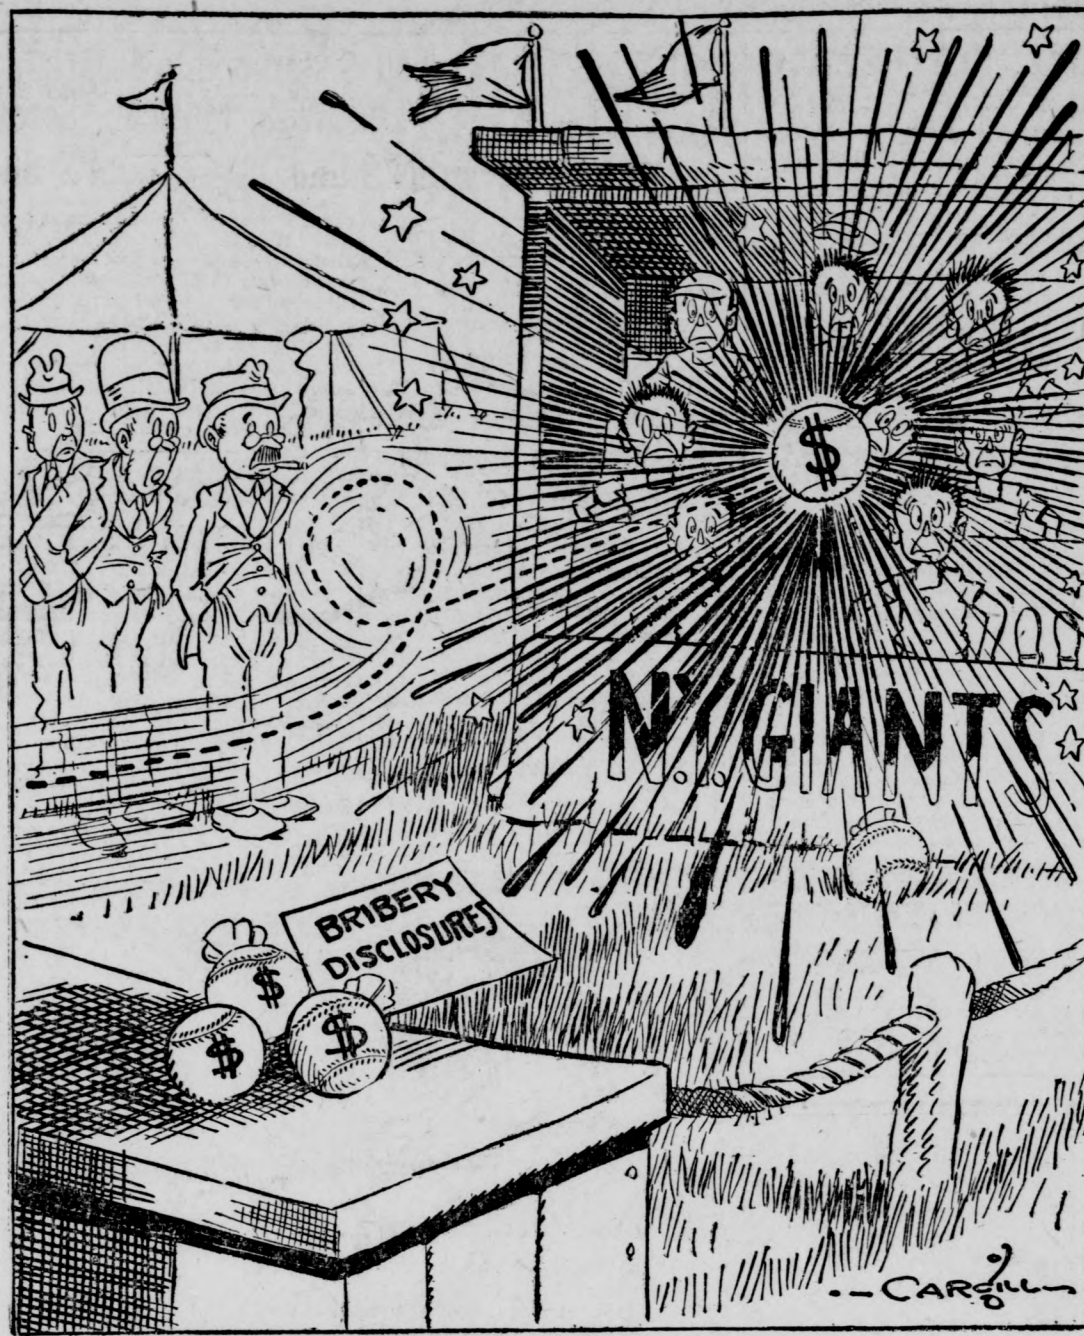

Try to get your opponent's viewpoint, assume that he may be right, consider well his arguments, show him where they are weak and where your reasoning is strong. By this method you have some chance of winning him over to your side. Or he may convince you that you are wrong and what we are all earnestly striving for, after all, is truth.

PROHIBITION AND PROBATION

The Middlesex county jail at Lowell, Mass., was sold at auction the other day. This jail had been in use since 1856 when the county had a population of 194,023. In 1920 the population had mounted to 778,352. In spite of this great increase Middlesex county has had no use for a jail for some time.

The sheriff of the county gives the credit for this condition to "prohibition and probation," and he should be able to speak with authority if anyone can. The people of Lowell have a pretty effective argument against the charge that prohibition is not being, and cannot be, enforced.

'JACK' THE GIANT KILLER

The Passing of Silver

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Although silver will always have uses as a precious metal, its day of adorning the table seems to be over.

And for the very best of reasons: There is no one to keep it clean. Hired girls are too costly to be employed by any but the most fortunate, in polishing without end, and daughters who are willing to spend the greater part of their lives burnishing silver are mostly things of the past.

All of us can remember when the silver water pitcher and soup tureen were objects of ornament for grandmother's table.

With the delay of Victorian prosperity, says the London Times, silver may have grown thinner, but its tradition was bravely maintained for a while. Daughters of the Trafalgar ladies liked their hair brushed to glitter with the heads of Sir Joshua's angels; their prayer books and hymn books were bound in periwinkle filigree; they put up brackets between a couple of Japanese fans on which the heroes of South Africa were immortalized in silver statuettes. The progress of democracy carried silver into the humblest homes, where attenuated vases, conspicuously hallmarked, gave gentility to the wallflower.

All are gone or are going. The kingly tureen, which by reason of its extreme weight King James had so much difficulty in carrying, has gone with James. The vase, the statuette and the filigree prayer book have been sent to the dealers. Even the rose bowl, which in its rich flutings used to reflect the surrounding flush of mahogany and distort the features of our hungry ancestors, has given way to stained steel.

We are all turning to substitutes and, the uniformity of silver being gone, we reveal ourselves in our choice of them. Cut glass, majolica and other underdainties are doing its work.

By and by we shall only see silver articles of use and adornment in the museums.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1840 Before Van Buren's term expired once again there were two great parties in politics—the Whigs and the Democrats. The Whig convention was held in December of 1839. Harrison, General Winfield Scott and Henry Clay were the most prominent candidates for nomination. Scott had not yet achieved that conquest of Mexico by which he is best remembered; but had distinguished himself in the war of 1812. Clay was the Whig idol; but Clay was a high Mason and the anti-Masons who had been swallowed by the Whigs had not yet been fully digested. They were not to be considered. Clay eliminated himself in the caucus of harmony. Scott had a chance; but "the political highways are strewn with the bones of men who have written letters." Scott wrote a conciliatory letter to a prominent abolitionist. The letter got out and eliminated Scott. Harrison was nominated for the presidency, with his running mate, John Tyler of Virginia, a strong Clay partisan. The Democratic convention met in May and nominated Van Buren and Johnson for re-election. This convention was the first one to adopt a party platform. Besides the usual axiomatic platitudes, which have ever since formed a part of all the platforms of all the parties, the platform declared for "strict construction" of the constitution, asserted the unconstitutionality of internal improvements by the Federal government, denied the power of Congress to charter a national bank and denounced any interference with slavery. A memorable campaign ensued. Some ill-advised Democrat sneered that Harrison had "lived in a log cabin and drank hard cider." The Whigs were quick to seize the opportunity of proving their candidate, an aristocrat by birth, as a "man of the people"—and "played it for all it was worth." It was a campaign of processions in which the log cabin always appeared; of barbecues at which oxen were roasted and barrels broached. The air was misty with the smoke of the burnt offerings, and tremulous with the voice of the spellbinder and the campaign song; while the land flowed with rivers of hard cider. It was the campaign in which Maine achieved her reputation as a political "pointer" by going Hell-bent, for Governor Kent; for Tippecanoe and Tyler, too.

Horoscope

Although Saturn is in benefic aspect today, according to astrology, conditions are changeable. Venus is adverse early and friendly later. This should be a lucky wedding day, if the marriage ceremony is performed after the noon hour.

They who choose mates differing greatly in age have the forecast of disappointment. Joy lies in companionship with those of one's own generation.

Notwithstanding all warnings, there may be many strange matrimonial alliances in the coming year. A royal personage will make a sensational choice.

Women are warned of a prophecy that they are to be unusually susceptible to heart disease at this time and they are advised to conserve their strength.

Many deaths will be recorded among women who are famous in various lines of artistic work. Writers and actresses should safeguard the health.

Theatres come under a splendidly stimulating influence today, which should be favorable to new plays.

Motion pictures have been subject to an exceedingly adverse sway from which they will emerge much improved, the seers declare. They are admonished not to let the baser forces control them.

All occultists declare that, since all that happens in what we call the material world is but the reflection of mins, for that reason all who have the happiness of mankind at heart should guard their thoughts.

The Moon in Pisces today should be favorable to certain lines of trade, notably purveyors of food, but warning is given that prices will ascend in the coming year.

Persons who buy stock are assured that there will be no great changes before the seventeenth when there may be rather uncertain trading. After the 24th the market may be wild and changeable.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a strenuous year in business, but they should have fair success.

Children born on this day may be rather careless and fond of having a good time, but these subjects of Libra are often well adapted to be leaders. As managers of big concerns they prosper and many attain political success.

Germany has a lace vogue.

Today's Poem

THE HILL
Breathless, we flung upon the windy hill,
Laughed in the sun, and kissed the lovely grass.
You said, "Through glory and ecstasy we pass,
Wind, sun, and earth remain, the birds sing still,
When we are old, are old—"
"And when we die
All's over that is ours; and life burns on Through other lovers, other lips," said I,
"Heart of my heart, our heaven is now, is won!"
"We are Earth's best, that learnt her lesson here.
Life is our cry. We have kept the faith!" we said;
"We shall go down with unreluctant tread,
Rose-crowned into the darkness!"
—Proud we were,
And laughed, that had such brave things to say.
And then you suddenly cried, and turned away.
—Rupert Brooke.

Another workman halted him with, "Ullio, Bill, takin' 'ome your 'ome work?"

ANY OFFERS?

A Chinese newspaper contains this letter from an applicant for work.

"Sir, I am Wang—I can drive a typewriter with good noise and my English is great. My last job has left itself from me, for the good reason that the large man has read that it was on account of no fault of mine. So, honorable sirs, what about it? If I can be of big use to you, I will arrive on some date that you should guess."

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING

A small girl came to the door of Jed Huskorn's farmhouse the other day.

"Please, Mrs. Huskorn," said she to Jed's wife, "mother wants to know of you'll lend her a dozen eggs. She wants to put them under a hen."

"Under a hen? Why, I didn't know you had a hen."

"We ain't, but mother's going to borrow it from Mrs. Lamborn."

Who's Who

Turks converted to Christianity by American and other missionaries have had to flee Turkey to escape the wrath of the Mohammedans, according to Stephen Panaretoff, Bulgarian minister to the United States.

Discussing a statement made recently by William Linn Westermann, professor of ancient history at Cornell, that the Turkish government has been "religiously tolerant," Panaretoff says:

"The Turks are tolerant in regard to Christians, but not to Turks. Very few Turks have been converted by American missionaries, and such converts have had to flee the country to escape the wrath of the Mohammedans. The Turks don't care if Bulgarians are converted. The more religious divisions, such as Baptists, Methodists, and so on, which will divide the Christians, the better the Turks are pleased."

In regard to the Christians themselves, you would be astonished at how tolerant they are. When the Greek Catholics have a procession on a church holiday, Turkish soldiers and policemen guard the procession. In Jerusalem one of the reasons they give why the Turks should be kept is that if they were not on guard at the Church of the Sepulchre the Christians would massacre themselves in no time."

"The Turk is a Mohammedan," he says. "He doesn't know nationalism. He knows religion. He divides the world into the world of faith, populated by Mohammedans, and the world of infidelity, populated by infidels. The Turks call a man Greek if he has the Greek religion. They do not call themselves Turks. To them the word is opprobrious. When the Turks say, 'Oh, thou Turk, thou son of a Turk!' it is like swearing at a man in this country."

SAFETY LANES TO GUARD CHILDREN

P.-T. Federation to Ask City Council for Action on Protection Measure

Mrs. Parr stated that a careful survey has been made of the traffic problems and districts near Glendale schools, and the committee feels that the laning of the crossings used by school children will do away with the need of so many traffic officers as would otherwise be required. She added that the laning system will be similar to the one in operation in Los Angeles.

A meeting of this survey committee is to be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the office of Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools.

Following her talk yesterday, the suggestion was made by Mrs. R. N. Stryker, president of the Acacia Avenue Parent-Teacher association, that in painting the lanes on the streets a red line limit each lane, in order that when the children have entered the lane to cross the street they will hesitate at the red line before continuing, as a signal to motorists that they are intending to cross.

Mrs. Parr emphasized the proper use of the lanes and stressed the responsibility the parents will have in urging that the children use the lanes.

Reception to Teachers
Mrs. O. H. Spradling, federation president, directed the meeting, attended by over forty Parent-Teacher association officers, chairmen and school officials.

Second in importance to the traffic committee's report was the decision to hold the fall reception for the teachers at an early date. It was voted that the affair will be at one of the high schools and will be an entertainment in the auditorium, followed by an informal hour in the cafeteria. Mrs. R. N. Stryker was named chairman of the committee to arrange the date and place for the reception. She will be assisted by Messrs. James L. D. Torrey, J. A. Grant, Mae Rosenberg and Arthur Franklin, and members of all courtesy and program committees.

Sponsor C. of C. Dinner
The federation went on record as being willing to sponsor one of the Chamber of Commerce dinners. Favorable action was also taken on the Armistice day celebration, being planned by the Glendale Legion post. It was decided that each school enter at least one machine in the parade.

Discussion was heard on the pledge of $1000 made by the federation to the Y. M. C. A. building fund. Each association has been assessed $10 for the initial payment next month. The federation will also give $10. Mrs. Florence Wintersgill announced that there was $97 in the treasury.

Mrs. Thimm, chairman of magazines and emblems, gave her report and it was unanimously decided to have the pin of Mrs. E. B. Moore, past president of the federation, suitably engraved and decorated.

Reports were made by Mrs. William C. Leash, chairman of the year book committee, and Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., chairman of the committee on place of meeting. Mrs. Leash submitted prices given and was instructed to have 500 books printed for $50. Mrs. White announced that through the courtesy of the high school board the federation will meet in the future on the second Wednesday afternoon of each month in room 124, the music room at the Harvard High school.

Women Plan Courses In Arts and Craft Work

Tuesday afternoon clubwomen who are interested in arts and craft work are enthusiastic over the departmental work outlined at a meeting yesterday at the clubhouse by Estelle Brain, curator of that phase of the club's activity. There were forty-five clubwomen present at the meeting. Many have made reservations for the department course.

The first meeting will be held Thursday, October 16, and thereafter from 10 to 2 o'clock the first and third Thursdays of each month. Plans were made for the club's annual bazaar, November 17 and 18. The arts and crafts department will have the creative booth.

A frank discussion of the large profits in the Mortgage Business—and the opportunity you now have to share in them

A STUDY of the history of the mortgage business shows that it is not only one of the oldest and safest types of business ever developed, but that it is also one of the most profitable. As a matter of fact, the average mortgage lender in this country today is making a profit of 10% on his investment, while the average business man is making only 5% on his investment. This is because the mortgage business is a business of fixed costs, and the only variable cost is the cost of the loan. The mortgage lender can control the cost of the loan by controlling the interest rate, and he can control the interest rate by controlling the supply of money. This is why the mortgage business is so profitable.

BUICK SETS WORLD'S RECORD IN NON-STOP RUN

Without a stop for gas, water, oil, train crossings, rain or traffic cops, a 1925 Standard Six Buick, driven by C. L. (Outdoor) Franklin and observed by Captain F. J. Davis, was wheeled into Tia Juana, Mex., from the Canadian border after a continuous run lasting 54 hours and 40 minutes. The forward progress of the car was not halted once. Franklin drove the whole distance, night and day, without stirring from behind the wheel for even a fraction of a second. The pictorial map by Charles H. Owens shows the progress of the car along the way. The photo at the top was taken in Mexico after arrival. Captain Davis is at the right of the car with Franklin at the left. A customs official stands behind Franklin.

You Can't Match It for Utility-Comfort-Value

With the right performance assured, pick your closed car with the idea of utility and comfort uppermost.

On that basis examine the good Maxwell Club Sedan. Try all the seats. Stretch your legs. See how easy it is to get in and out.

Then drive it on the road and experience its driving and riding comfort.

Of course, since it is a good Maxwell, you know you can count on care-free, economical performance.

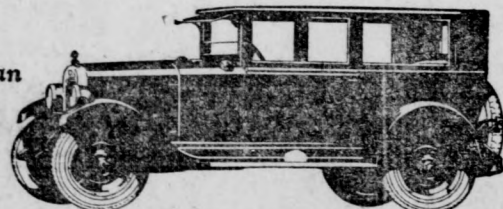

An ideal car for the family, for the busy man or busy woman; and, by long odds, the best value in the four-cylinder field.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Maxwell's attractive plan.

Filling radiator in Mexico with less than one pint of water after 1606 miles without a stop

Whittier Boulevard To Be Open Friday

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—Whittier boulevard, from Pasadena avenue to Montebello, will be reopened to public travel on Friday of this week, according to an announcement made today by S. V. Cortelyou, division engineer of the California Highway commission.

The rebuilt road is fifty-six feet wide, one-half of which was financed by the state, while the county and a local improvement district took care of the balance of outlay, in what is considered the most substantial highway ever built in California.

Seven inches of concrete topped with a two-inch asphaltic concrete wearing surface makes it the highest type of highway available, and capable of withstanding the tremendous traffic which pounded the old county road to pieces. Motorists who have made the detour around the construction will be glad to learn of the new highway's completion, which has taken the better part of four months.

Motorist Hunting for Fire Causes Delays

SANTA ANA, Oct. 9.—Horace Fine, automobile editor of The Santa Ana Register, in support of an appeal by the chief of the fire department, in a recent article played the motorist who gets in the way of the fire department or tries to beat it to the scene of the conflagration, which seems to be the favorite pastime of the citizens who crave excitement.

"The loss of a minute's time by the fire department in reaching a fire may mean the loss of a life," Mr. Fine said. "I would like to impress that fact on the motorists who are in the habit of jumping in their machines whenever a fire alarm is sounded and running pell mell about the city in an effort to locate and witness the blaze."

Stock Car Starts At Canadian Border and Finishes At Mexican Line, Establishing Three-Flag Mark in Brilliant Style

A sensational new three-flag world's record was established last week when a 1925 standard six Buick, piloted by C. L. "Outdoor" Franklin and observed by Captain F. J. Davis, finished a nonstop run at Tia Juana, Mex., that started at the Canadian border.

Driving through pouring rain for over 700 miles of the way, from Blaine, Wash., to the California line in the Siskiyou mountains, crossing three mountain ranges on the way and being forced to slow down for the well-known "bad stretch" in Northern California, Franklin, who maintained a ceaseless vigil at the wheel, brought the Buick to a stop in Mexico just fifty-four hours and forty minutes after the motor was started in Canada.

In establishing this nonstop record, which is unparalleled in the archives of the motor car world, the car covered 160 miles, averaging twenty-nine and one-fifth miles per hour for the distance, and passed under the jurisdiction of the flags of three countries—Canada, the United States and Mexico.

In no sense a speed test, the run demonstrated the ability of the standard six Buicks to keep functioning for marathon distances without a stop for any kind of a mechanical adjustment. Capt. Davis was sent along as the representative of the newspapers of Los Angeles to keep tab on the performance and at the conclusion of the run made affidavit to just what happened.

Progress Not Halted Despite the lurking fear that punctures, train crossings, congestion, traffic cops or any of the other ills that befall motorists might occur and send the run back to its starting point, Franklin, manipulated the wheel with such skill that the steady forward progress of the car was not halted for a fraction of a second. Nothing stopped—motor car or driver. In order that the car could be kept moving an ingenious contrivance for taking on gas was invented. From a big tank placed in the tonneau a tube was run to the regular tank and a handle turned whenever juice was needed. In much the same way oil was fed from a tube leading from the dash to the crankcase in the motor.

Water could have been added by standing on the running board while the car was in motion, but this was unnecessary as less than one pint of water was required to fill the radiator when Mexico was reached.

For Human Motors The motors of the human occupants of the car were kept going by hot coffee and sandwiches, which were carried along with the rest of the baggage. Capt. Davis caught forty winks of sleep now and then, but Franklin, with fortitude and courage oozing from every pore, stuck grimly to his task from the time Canada was left at 8 a. m. on Monday morning until Tia Juana was reached at 2:40 p. m. the following Wednesday afternoon.

Both men were dead for sleep when they were lifted from the car. Franklin wobbled like a man with the rickets and Capt. Davis had developed a "Charley horse."

The tightwad characteristics of the standard six Buicks are reflected in the gas, oil and water figures for the 1606-mile run—eighty-eight gallons of gas, an average of eighteen and one-fourth miles; less than two quarts of oil, and less than one pint of water.

Observes Speed Laws The Washington and Oregon speed laws of thirty miles per hour were strictly observed, according to Franklin and Capt.

Glendalians Owns Loft Of Valuable Pigeons

Glendale is becoming an important center in the raising of homing pigeons by members of the Southern California Racing Pigeon association. The largest loft is maintained on West Salem street by S. T. Retallack, who has 135 birds, three of which saw service with the American soldiers in France during the World war. Many of his birds are valued at $50 and some could not be purchased for $500, he says.

A race was held by the Southern California association last Sunday, starting at Bakersfield, and a bird owned by Ed Cross of this city, was second, with one of Mr. Retallack's birds fourth. There are more than 400 birds in the lofts of Glendale and practically all of the pigeons are registered and under the United States government control for use in war or other emergency. Hunters are warned against shooting into the flocks of racing pigeons as they are under the protection of the government and several instances recently have been reported where valuable birds in flight have been shot.

Hongkong prefers American auto jacks to makes of all other countries.

Davis, Kelso, Wash., was reached the first day out and the night jump took the car as far as Roseburg, Ore. From that point Marysville, Cal., was reached before night set in the second day and the after-dark session brought the non-stop car to Saugus. The rest of the run was completed by daylight of the third day. No skids were encountered on the moist northwest highways, the car holding the road like a dream and the four-wheel brakes functioning perfectly, it was reported. This was the second time the car had attempted the run, the first one ending disappointingly when a slow leak in a front tire forced the pilot to point the car back to the starting point.

AUTO RACING REVIVAL IS ASSURED

Ascot Gold Cup Road Contest On Thanksgiving Day Is Drawing Entries

The long-deferred revival of automobile road racing in California will be assured with the running of the Ascot gold cup race on Thanksgiving day. Fifty-two thousand dollars in gold coin will be paid to the fortunate pilots in the big contest. The Ascot gold cup, valued at $7000 will also go to the winner.

The race will be contested over a five-mile course, of which the present Ascot speedway will comprise a portion of the route. The road is entirely within the limits of property owned by or under lease to the Ascot association, this alone making possible the running of a road race within the state of California.

Foreign Drivers

Many noted foreign drivers, in addition to the cream of the American daredevils, will comprise the entry list. Only thirty starters will be permitted in the big turkey day event, which will be at a distance of 250 miles. At least fifty entries are expected, the lists being open until November 15, this making necessary the running of elimination trials to sift the field down to the maximum number of starters allowed in the big race.

An additional grand stand will be built to accommodate a part of the huge throng which will undoubtedly attend the race. The total seating capacity will be around 40,000, while more than 500,000 persons, and 150,000 automobiles can be taken care of within the grounds and around the course, all of which will be fenced in.

International Rules

The race will start at 10 o'clock in the morning, and will bring back many of the old scenes attending Vanderbilt cup, Grand prize, Elgin Santa Monica and Corona road races.

The contest will be run under the international rules as promulgated by the Royal Automobile club of Great Britain, the Automobile club of France and the Automobile club of Italy, the same rules as govern all the international road contests, the foreign drivers refusing to compete under any other rules.

Practice over the Ascot road race course will begin about the last week of October.

Dust Caps From Tires For Neat Door Handle

A number of the lower-priced automobiles have the inside handles of door catches made in a very rough style. The crude appearance of these handles can be improved considerably by dressing them down on an emery wheel or grindstone so that the dust caps used on automobile valve stems will fit over them snugly.

Salesmen Allowed To Carry Baggage Up to 150 Pounds

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9.—Commercial travelers driving automobiles will be allowed baggage not in excess of 150 pounds without paying the additional weight fees for vehicles used for commercial purposes.

According to Will H. Marsh, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles, it has become necessary to adopt an arbitrary figure as the maximum weight for samples. The practice of the railroads has been followed. Salesmen traveling by rail may not take more than 150 pounds of baggage without paying excess fees.

If the salesman carries more than 150 pounds in his auto, he will be classed as primarily engaged in "transportation of property," and weight fees will be charged. Marsh added that this new regulation does not apply to salesmen driving cars equipped with "slip-on" or box bodies, since such vehicles are rated as commercial vehicles.

Best Places for Duck Hunting Are Offered

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—Motorists who combine duck hunting with their week-end trips are advised by Edwin Hedderly of the local California fish and game commission offices that Lake Henshaw in San Diego county is one of the best hunting grounds. Best valley also is good, and for those who have friends in the Imperial valley to advise them of recently irrigated barley fields, they will find game aplenty.

With cooler weather the Imperial valley should be ideal for the hunter, although ducks change their abode. Plenty of birds are to be had this year in the Sacramento valley, also, Mr. Hedderly is informed.

Quick Use of Brakes Is Harmful to Auto

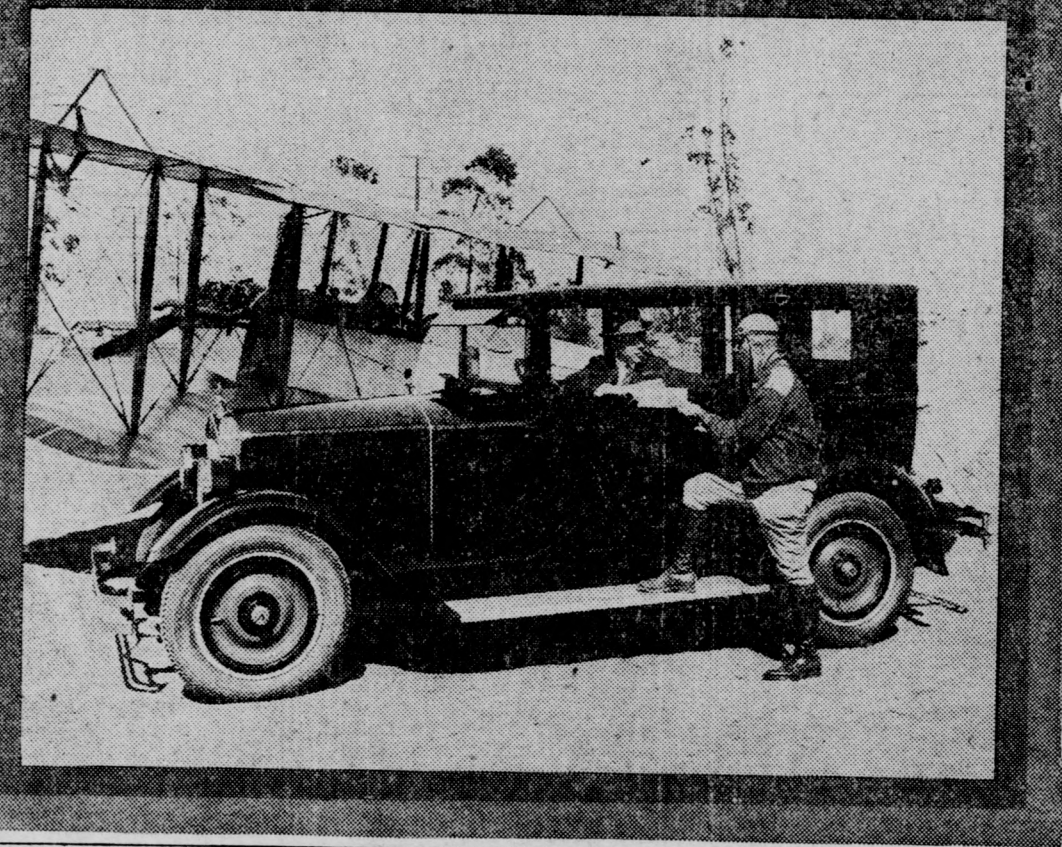

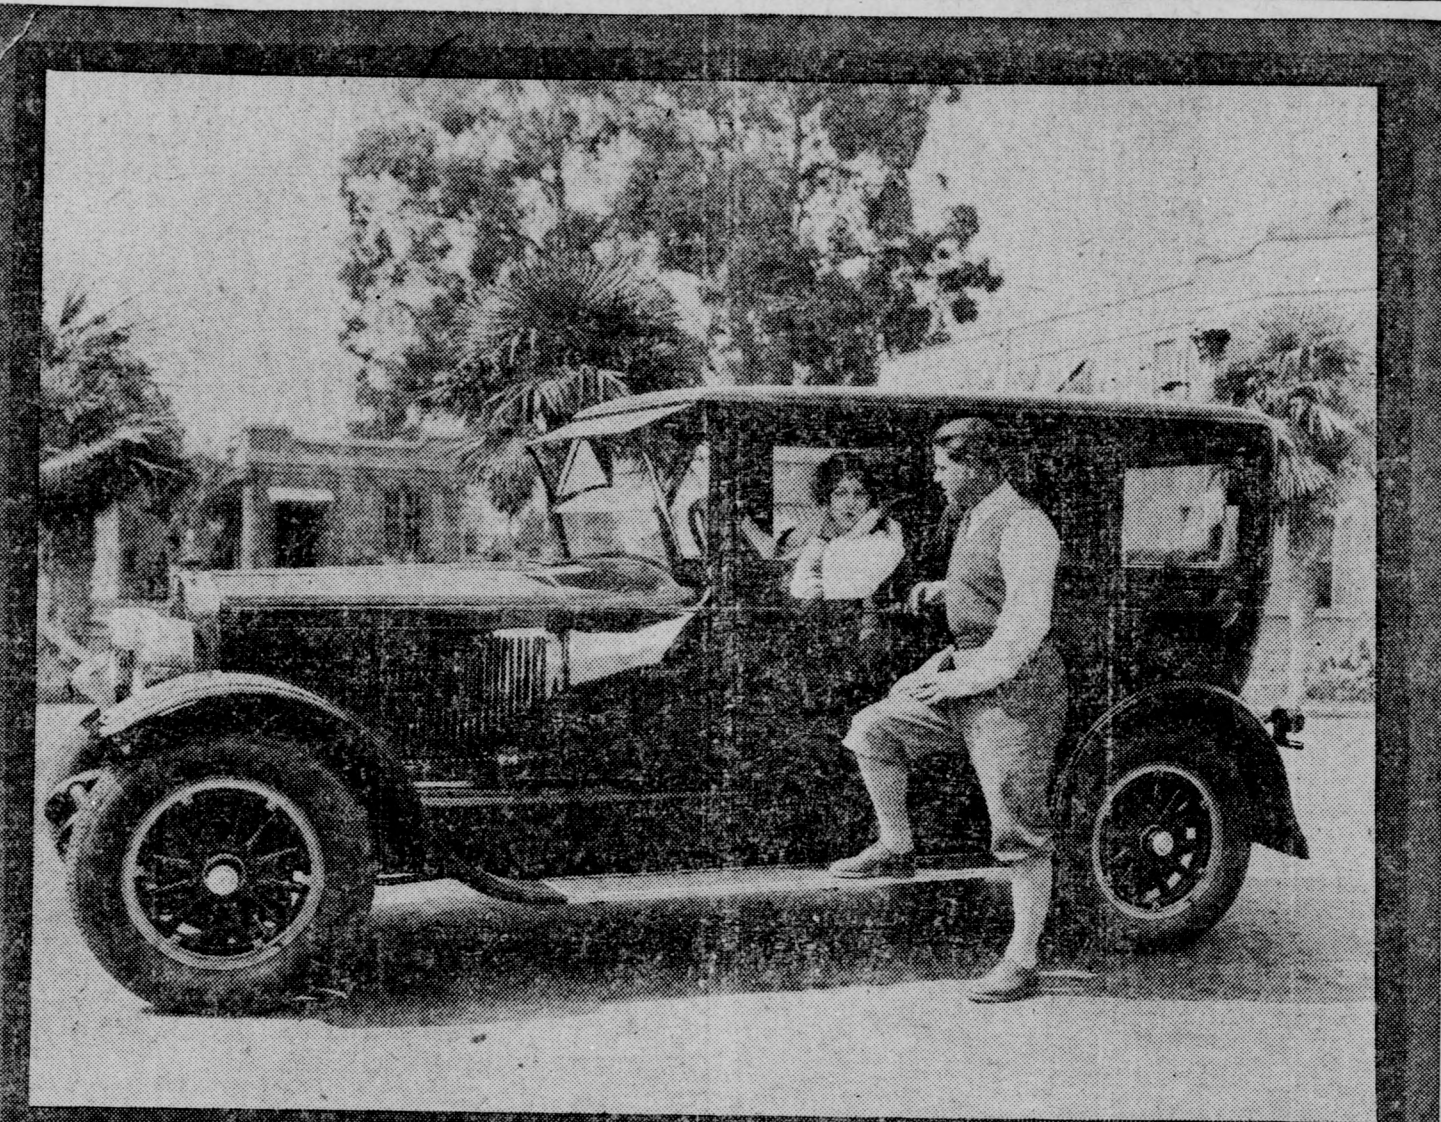

When bringing the car to a stop, do not jam on the brakes all of a sudden. Begin reducing the speed fifty feet or more from the point, and simply roll up and stop with a final and gentle application of the brakes. Always apply the brakes and then release them. Instead of putting them on and then holding them there, it is the jamming on at speed that wears out the brake lining and loosens up the whole system.

Carbon Most Costly Enemy of Automobile

Carbon destroys far more motor wealth annually than fire and accidents combined, yet its destructive work is regarded as ordinary wear and tear. Tests made by treating fuel with non-carbon forming compounds have proved that engines properly lubricated can run forever with practically no wear and tear. Carbon counter agents should be mixed with the gasoline.

Receives Release By Airplane

C. H. WATSON of the Watson Motor Car Co., 1000 South Brand boulevard, Velie and Jordan dealer for Glendale, is seen in one of the new Velie coach sedans, accepting delivery of factory release on 1925 models from Eddie Bolando, "the man from the sky." The models are now on display in the company's show room. Below is Lola Todd, known as "the perfect girl" at Universal studio, inviting Jack Hoxie to ride in her new "Great Jordan Line Eight" Sedan. Miss Todd, an experienced motorist, best describes her new Jordan as "the perfect car."

AUTO DEALERS WELCOME C.H. WATSON TO GLENDALE

Up-to-Date Sales and Service Plant Opened at 1000 South Brand Boulevard Handles Latest Models of Jordan, Velie

Glendale's fast growing and prosperous motor car row initiates another new member today. C. H. Watson, one of the pioneers in the automotive industry who established his home here some time ago, has just announced that he has taken the Jordan and Velie dealership for the Glendale territory.

The firm will be known as the Watson Motor Car Co., and is situated in an up-to-date sales and service plant at 1000 South Brand boulevard.

Has Selling Rule

Mr. Watson says the secret of selling anything is to first sell oneself, get the confidence of the customer, and the product will move. That he has succeeded in following his idea of selling here is proved, according to his friends and associates by the way he carries his following right along with him in all his business undertakings.

Before deciding on a line of cars to present to his many Glendale friends and patrons, Mr. Watson made a very thorough investigation of the situation. Knowing the motor car business as he does from years of close contact with all phases of manufacture and distribution, and knowing too that the public is the court of last appeal, he proceeded to literally comb the country.

Selects Two Cars

He traveled the highways and byways from New York to California watching the cars making cross country trips, talking to car owners, quizzing dealers and distributors until he was satisfied that Jordan and Velie automobiles are motor cars that he can safely and sincerely sell to his friends, knowing that they will be more than satisfied.

Mr. Watson has chosen the time of his opening at the most opportune time, it would appear, for the "Great Jordan Line Eight" has just been introduced as a companion car to the popular Jordan Six. The new Velie model 60 with the famous Velie built airplane motor makes its debut in Southern California on Monday. Great plans are perfected by the Lord Motor Car Co., Southern California Velie distributors, and associate dealers for the introduction of this new 1925 line.

Airplanes Overhead

Airplanes will roar over the city during the day. Batteries of powerful arcs will mark a new white spot in the city at night and if arrangements now in process of completion work out, night flyers will blaze their way across the sky to hover over the "white spot" where the new Velie cars with the Velie built airplane engines are on display.

The many friends and associates of Mr. Watson join in wishing him all possible success, and in anticipation of a record attendance at his "First Night." Mr. Watson is making elaborate plans to entertain the crowds and show each visitor every feature of his new line of cars.

Lightweight Traffic Cop Used In North

WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 9.—At last there is an opportunity for the short man to show his authority and enforce the law. In most instances a traffic "cop" and a man who stands some six feet skyward are synonymous. Not so in Wenatchee. Jonathan Bowman, traffic officer here is exactly four feet three inches tall, weighs but 117 pounds, and claims to be the world's smallest officer.

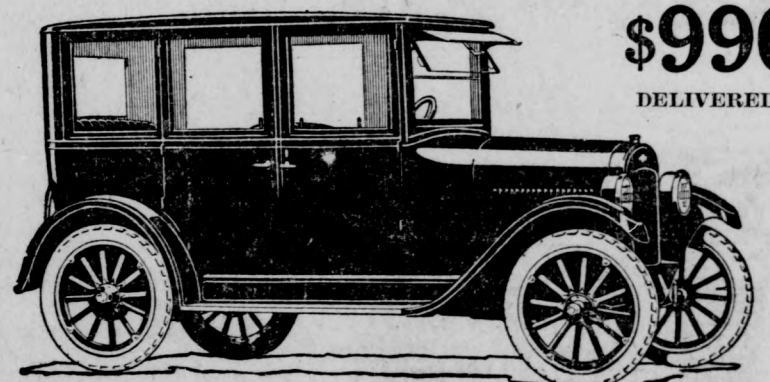

DOCTOR WINS MEDAL

During a careful driving contest recently held in Altoona, Pa., Dr. P. A. Pershing was declared the most efficient, courteous and careful automobile driver. He was awarded a medal as the champion driver of the city by the judges of the contest, which covered a month.

E. V. Jellison To Have Gardner and Cole Cars On Display Three Days

The formal display of the Gardner line of cars that is planned by E. V. Jellison of the Jellison Motor Co., 1002-1004-1006 South Brand boulevard, for tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday, will present to the motorists of Glendale a line of the late models that is said to surpass in beauty, riding comfort and mechanical excellence any other rival, according to Mr. Jellison, who proudly points to the Gardner slogan, "It outperforms any other car in its class."

Besides the Gardner line, Mr. Jellison will display the Cole Aero Eight. He has just secured the agency for this territory, and will have a sedan on show during the opening.

Four Gardner types will be shown, the sport touring car, recently acquired by Mr. Jellison for his own use while on a visit to the factory, the two door, five passenger coach, the radio special touring car and the radio special sedan.

Illuminate Front

The entire front of the Jellison showrooms will be illuminated with mammoth searchlights that will send their beams flashing to the sky and that will help, it help was needed, in drawing the crowds to the Jellison showrooms for the three nights that the formal opening will last.

Mr. Jellison, while taking a deep pride in the Gardner and Cole cars, draw an immense crowd to his makes an equal boast of his ability to supply pinions, ring gears and axles for any make of car from the immense stock that he carries on hand at all times, and, as he is the sole representative of the Savage Tire Co. in this city he feels that he is in a position to meet the needs of the most exacting motorists, especially as he maintains a garage in which expert mechanics are always at the service of automobile owners of the city and the surrounding territory.

Tires Featured

At present Mr. Jellison is offering a special line of fabric tires, which he is selling with a guarantee, and he is also featuring cord tires at reduced rates.

The invitations Mr. Jellison has sent out to his numerous friends in Glendale will, he is certain, establish during the formal opening, to say nothing of the desire that everyone feels to inspect the latest models in the lines of cars that he represents in this territory.

Motorists Who Gather Walnuts Called Pests

With the ripening of walnuts throughout Southern California has appeared an annual pest that is the terror of growers, according to the reports made to the Automobile Club of Southern California. This pest is the most devastating of any and not only eats the nuts on which the grower is depending for his year's labor, but carries them away in large quantities.

Walnut growers have issued an appeal to the club to help them and to sound a warning. The pest is described as having two legs, two arms, two eyes, between five and six feet tall, and driving an automobile. It also carries a sack which it attempts to fill with walnuts from privately owned groves, carry the sack to the car and get away before being detected or made to disgorge. Briefly, this particular and most dreaded pest is the unthinking motorist who gathers walnuts wherever he finds them, apparently not realizing that he is committing plain theft.

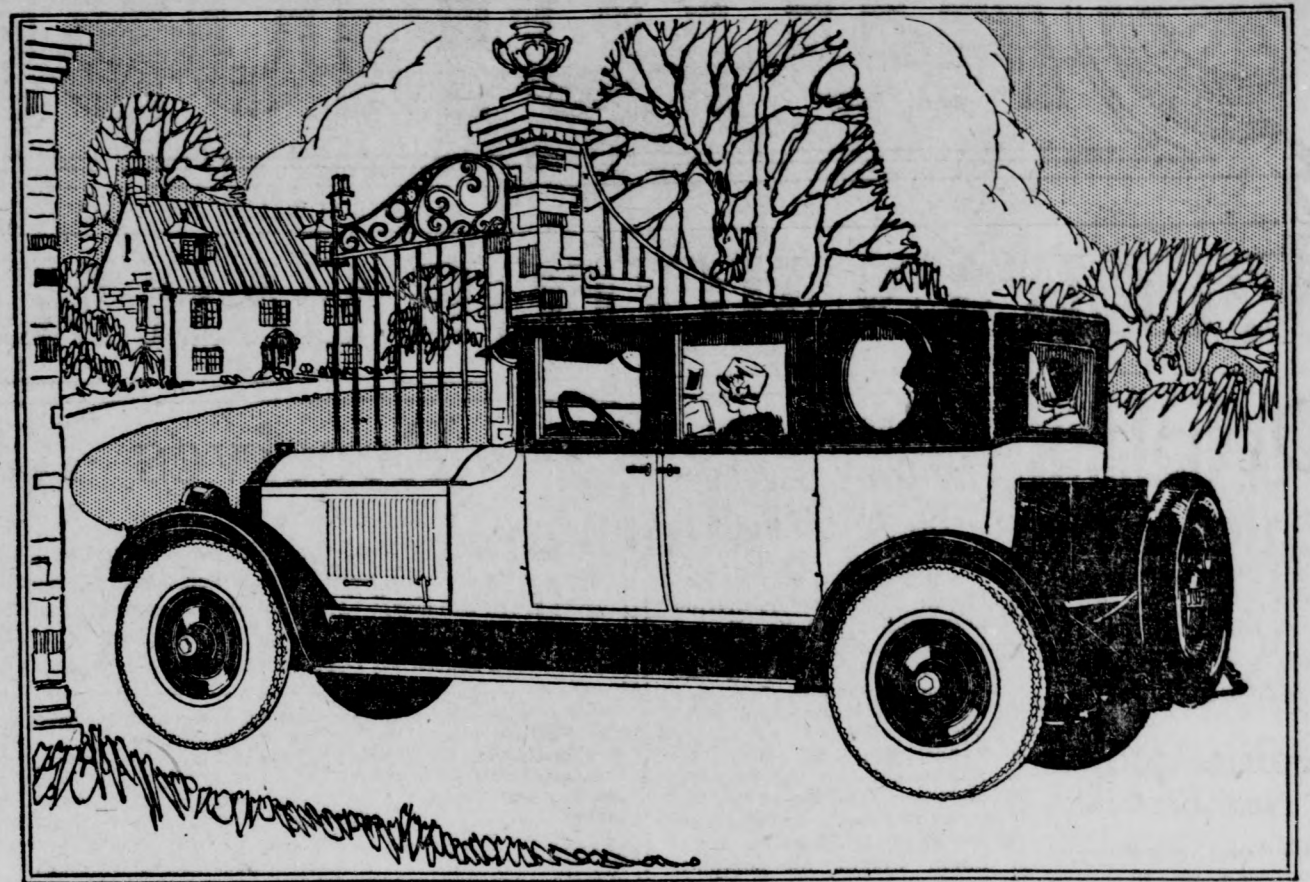

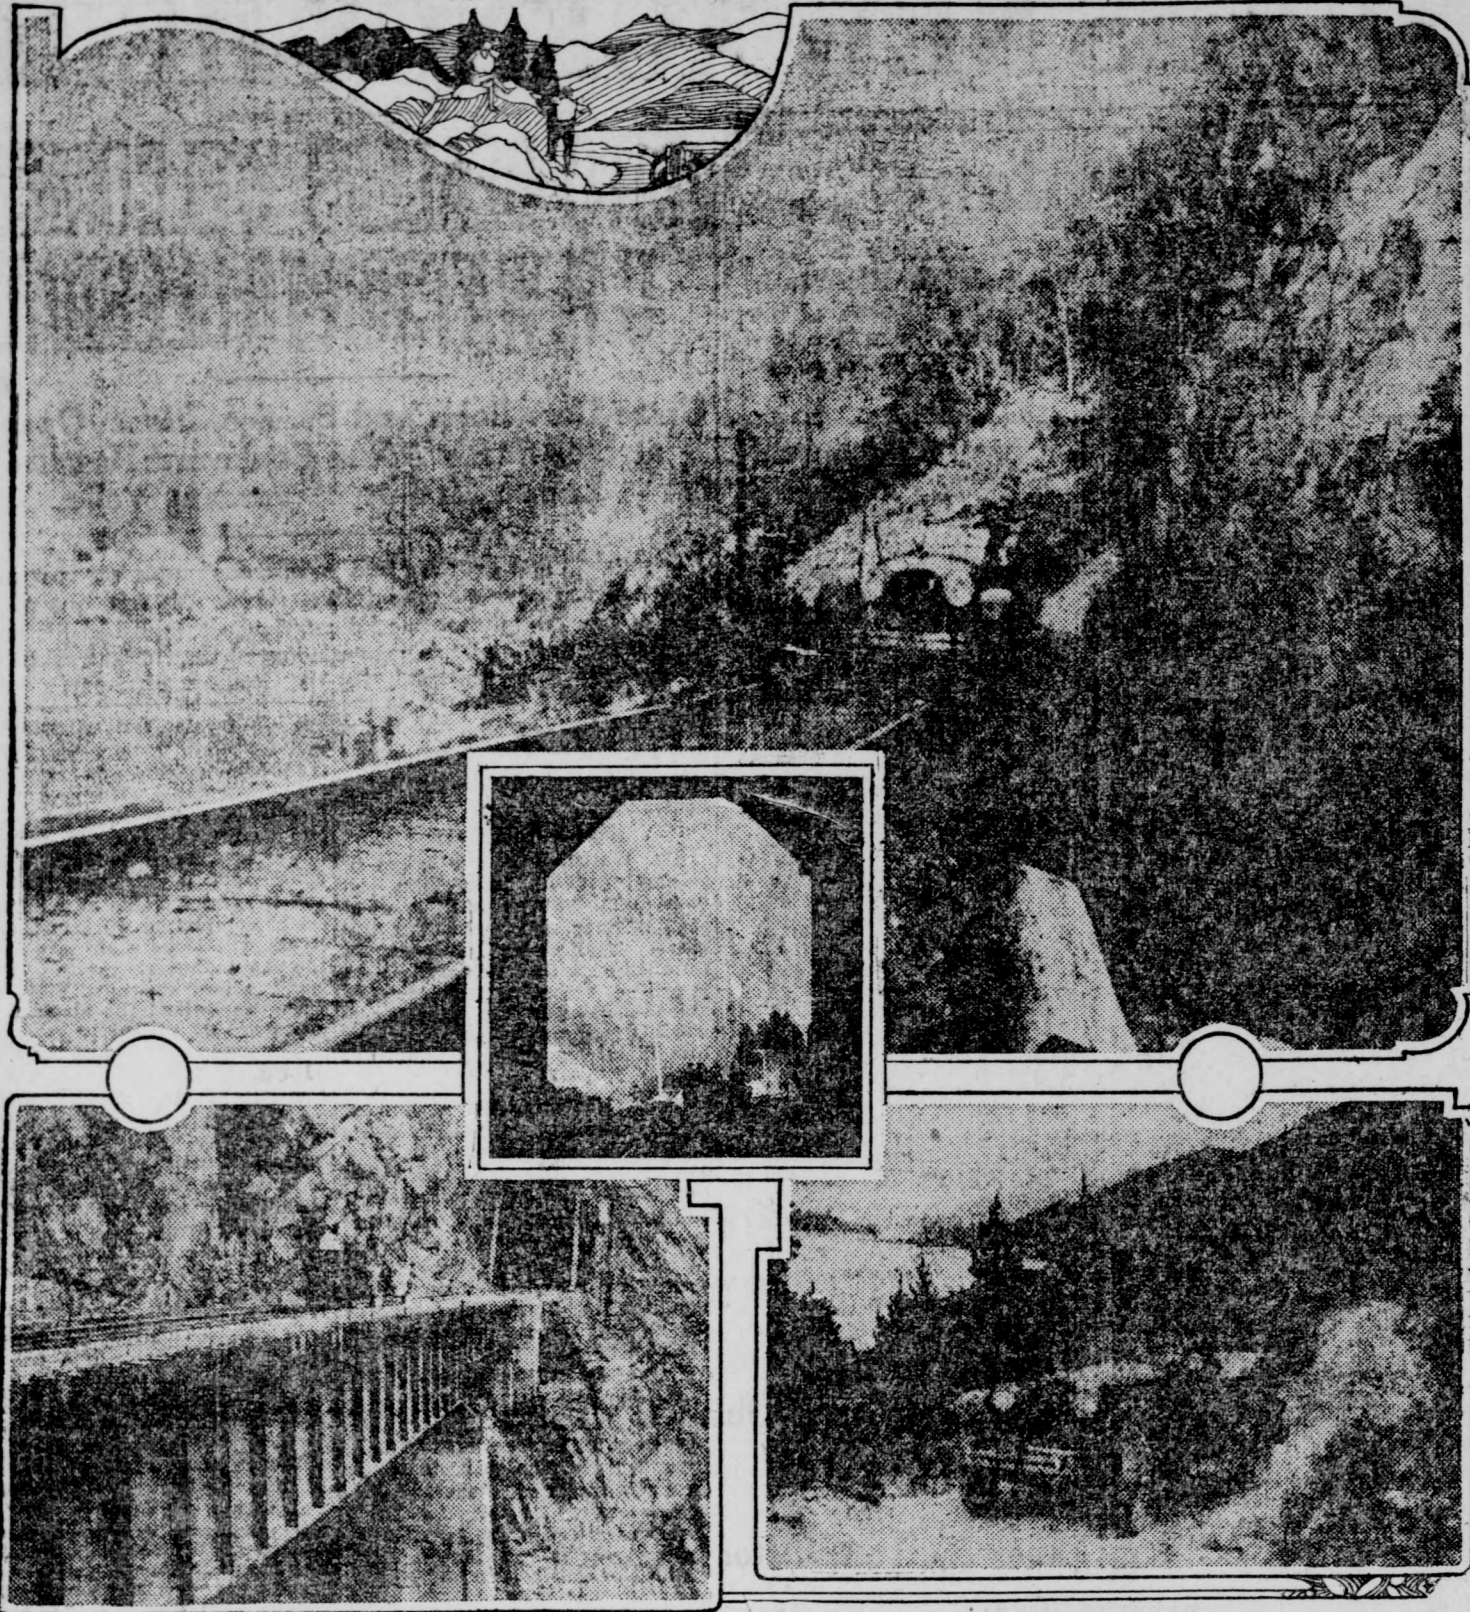

Tons of hairpins, said to have been discarded by wearers of the "bob," have been found on dumps near large cities.

establishment during the formal opening, to say nothing of the desire that everyone feels to inspect the latest models in the lines of cars that he represents in this territory.

Overcoming Hazards In Canada

The first motor car to cross Canada under its own power was a Packard. Below are shown some of the scenes along the trip. At the top, the character of country which will be opened to American automobile tourists when the road is completed. Center, the Packard car entering a tunnel. Below, a contrast in roads, one a perfect gravel road along the edge of a lake, and the other a combination of tunnel and trestle that had to be negotiated. On some trestles every other tie had been removed and the car had to be taken across on a track of loose ties laid over the gaps. The Packard is distributed by the Dixie Motor Co., W. H. Daniel, manager, 1129-1131 South Brand boulevard.

This Big, Luxurious Enclosed Paige Costs Less than Many Smaller Open Cars—$2175!

YES—you can own this smart, big, powerful Paige Brougham for less than you are asked to pay for open models of many smaller, lower-powered cars! And hundreds less than the prices of those cars equalling Paige in size and power!

What Paige Offers

What do you get in this $2175 Paige Brougham? First—appearance. There isn't a smarter looking car on the road! Lines are low, lean and graceful. The lower half of the body is finished in warm maroon, contrasting smartly with ebony black fenders and radiator. The rear portion of the upper body is black, fine-grain leather finish. Landau arms complete the air of smartness. Inside, too, there's a fineness of finish to delight you. Rich upholstery. Luxuriously soft, comfortable seats. Power! A velvet-smooth flow of silent power! More than ample for any task. Paige laughs at hills that stall most others—takes them in high. Pulls easily through bad stretches, slowly in high. Throttles down to a 2-mile-an-hour crawl—then away, quickly. And because its power is more than ample for these things—Paige never is strained, taxed. So Paige's big 70 h. p. six-cylinder motor stays good, lasts long! Try to buy finer performance!

Rough roads and bad detours are forgotten with the comfort of Paige's 131-inch wheelbase, rear springs more than 5 feet long, snubbers, and staunch weight. Compare these comfort factors with other cars, and you'll realize that greater riding ease cannot be had at any price!

Why Buy Less?

Why pay more than Paige's price to get a car offering far less? Come in—see and drive this Paige to judge it further. See and feel the value.

OPENS AUTO CLUB BRANCH IN CITY

District Office of L. A. Body
To Have Headquarters
On South Brand

Responding to the needs of non-metropolitan motorists, the Los Angeles Automobile association has established a branch office at Glendale. The new office is under the supervision of J. W. Botsford, 406 South Brand boulevard, formerly in the insurance business in Los Angeles for eight years.

The association was founded in 1919 by J. V. Strazelle, the present president. Within the last three years, the association has moved to larger quarters three times, and now feels that its membership cannot be justly served from the central office alone. The number of Glendale motorists who are members of the association and who will be served by the new branch is so large that Mr. Botsford, the division manager, feels he has his work cut out for him.

Glendale Is First

"I have looked forward a long time," said Mr. Strazelle, in speaking about the new office yesterday, "to opening a branch in Glendale. The remarkable growth that the Los Angeles Automobile association has had during the last five years has shown me that expansion was only a matter of time. Because of the number of motorists who drive both in Glendale and Los Angeles, I found that Glendale was the place that needed representation first."

"As a matter of fact, this is only the first of a chain of branches that will cover the entire state. For some time, our tow-car service, for instance, has been available everywhere in the state. This has been possible because we have found it better not to try to maintain a tow car, but to pay all tow car bills of our members, so that no one need wait while a tow car is on another call. Extending all of our membership privileges, as we are doing, to cover the entire state will make it necessary to blanket the state with our offices."

Houses made of concrete have been found by tests to be resistant to fire and to water.

Spend an hour in an Oakland Six and you will understand why this car is winning and holding the good will of all who buy it.

Q Standard equipment includes four-wheel brakes, disc steel wheels, balloon tires, permanent top, Fisher Bodies, one-piece ventilating windshield on closed types, Duo finish, centralized controls, indirectly-lighted unit instrument panel, automatic spark control. Q Glass enclosures for open cars at small added cost.

Duplex—exclusively Studebaker —a new kind of car!

A closed and open car combined—the advantages of both at an open car price!

Value Points New Big Six

The New Duplex-Phaeton Body—it solves the closed-open car problem.

Genuine Balloon Tires.

New Satin-Lacquer Finish.

Spanish chrome tanned leather upholstery.

New Ideas in ease of operation and control.

Vibrationless Engine; forced-oiling system with new idea in oil supply. Full 75 h. p. block test.

Four-wheel Hydraulic Brakes optional—totally unlike any other system on American cars.

THE new Studebaker Duplex models give the comfort and protection of a closed car—with all the advantages of an open car, plus the good looks, riding comfort, interior finish and fittings that no open car could ever give!

Yet the price is no higher than that of an open car.

The appeal of its simplicity, convenience and durability is instant and decisive—with a touch of the hand you draw down the four roller enclosures and in thirty seconds your airy open car is a snug, comfortable enclosed car. With equal ease the enclosing sides can be rolled up into the roof and you have an open car again.

The Duplex body is especially built for the roller side enclosures, the roof is framed and shaped in steel—permanently beautiful and steel-strong to support the rollers, and the upper part of the Duplex is integral with the lower part. It is a unit body which harmonizes perfectly in beauty and function.

There is no other body like it on any other car at any price—because it is exclusively a Studebaker creation, made only by Studebaker. You can buy the Duplex from no other maker.

The new Duplex is available for each of the three new Studebaker chassis—the new STANDARD SIX, the SPECIAL SIX and the BIG SIX.

And these three new chassis are the evolution of the famous chassis of the five preceding years. Each year they have been improved and refined.

But this year the new models are climaxed with every tested and proved betterment that experience and science have thus far developed. They are paramount exemplars of modern automobile design.

Simply stated, this means that money cannot buy more modernly perfect automobiles than the new Studebakers—we have the Duplex models ready for your inspection. Come in today!

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

DEMAND FOR CAR EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Nash Factory Reports Sales
Higher Than Production
At Present Time

Oversold to the extent of 7800 cars although production is at the highest point ever attained and sales are running well past the best previous record, is the remarkable business condition reported by The Nash Motors Co., Kenosha, Wis. In a recent letter to Charles McDaniel, proprietor of the McDaniel Motor Co., 1224 South Brand boulevard, distributors of Nash and Lafayette cars, E. H. McCarty, Nash general sales manager, says:

"Nash now occupies what can truthfully be termed an unprecedented business position on several counts. Rarely in any manufacturing line does an oversold condition exist coincident with record-breaking output. Even greater significance is vested in this overwhelming demand for the new Nash models due to the fact that it is taking place at the season of the year ordinarily not the most productive in point of sales and at a time when the motor car industry as a whole is well below the peak of business."

"An analysis of the source of this rising tide of orders flooding the factory reveals another interesting sidelight. The demand is not spotty or confined largely to a few territories but is springing evenly from all over the United States. Particularly is this surprising in view of the fact that in some districts of the United States important industries which provide major employment for these regions are working on reduced time. Yet, even from these districts, the volume of orders is flowing strongly."

Women's Athletic Club Proves Popular Place

Activities of the recently organized Women's Athletic club are proving of great value to Glendale women. Each day is marked by a gathering in some line of sports.

On Tuesday of this week, fourteen of the clubwomen met on the links at Griffith park for golf instruction. On Tuesday, October 21, they are to have instruction in the use of the brassie. Mrs. R. E. Corrigan, chairman of golf, is anxious to form a second class, and asks that all club members interested call her at Glendale 211-W.

Twelve of the club members played tennis yesterday on the Macpherson courts on Kenneth road. They will receive instructions from Mrs. Glenn Vail at next week's meeting. Mrs. E. L. Osborne, Jr., chairman of this sport, is forming an afternoon tennis class and can be reached at Glendale 2234-J.

The swimming section will meet at 9:45 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Pasadena Y. W. C. A. Mrs. George W. Smith, chairman, states there is demand for another swimming class and asks that women desiring to join call her at Glendale 349.

Mulholland to Address Monthly Forum Meet

William Mulholland, chief engineer of the water department of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker at the second monthly open forum meeting Tuesday, October 20, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, and will start with a dinner at 7 o'clock. Howard L. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

Mrs. Roy Jones, past president of the Friday Morning club of Los Angeles, rated as the largest women's club in the United States, will speak on the telephone situation in Southern California. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, junior past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by telephone, Mr. Howard announced, by calling Glendale 1262, the Chamber of Commerce.

Another World Record for Buick

"OUTDOOR" FRANKLIN
without leaving the wheel drives from Canada to Mexico without stopping car or motor

The START

The Buick with "Outdoor" Franklin and Official Observer Captain Frank Davis, on the International border line at Blaine, Washington.

Driving a 1925 Standard Six Touring, C. L. "Outdoor" Franklin, makes the astonishing record of a non-motor, non-wheel stop from the Canadian border to Tia Juana, Mexico, without leaving the wheel of his Buick, driving the 1606 miles in 54 hours and 40 minutes.

During this drive the Buick averaged better than 18 miles to the gallon. Less than two quarts of oil were added to the crank case, and less than a pint of water was needed to fill the radiator.

Franklin was accompanied on his record-breaking run by Captain Frank Davis, Official Observer, appointed by Los Angeles newspapers.

"Only a combination of motor efficiency, the new type of Low-pressure tires and the extreme ease of steering made it possible for me to make the drive," said Franklin.

FINISH PROCESS PROVES POPULAR

Glendale Lacquer Co. Is Now Being Kept Busy on Local Machines

"If any one doubts the durability of the Lacquer finish as applied by the Zapon process we just take a bottle of acid and alcohol and show him that the surface cannot be touched," says H. B. Stone, of the Glendale Lacquer company. The new process of finishing automobiles is proving quite popular in Glendale according to Mr. Stone, who with G. C. Grant recently opened the shop at 235 South Brand boulevard. Business is fair at present and as the motorists see the value of the work they are coming to have their cars finished in such, Mr. Stone states.

The Zapon process was learned by Mr. Stone in the special school conducted in Los Angeles by the company. The finish is absolutely guaranteed not to wear away under test of heat or cold, he says. Laying a burning match on the surface of the machine is one method used in demonstrating the durability of the finish, Mr. Stone states, and another is to allow the car to stand out in the sun and weather.

Easy to Repair
One of the good features of the lacquer process is that should the motorist have an accident and dent the car it can be refinished in the one spot in a short time and there will be no need of having the machine in the shop for a day or two, Mr. Stone says.

The process requires about five days to complete, Mr. Stone states, but once it is finished it is there to stay. It will outlast all paint and varnish jobs and the appearance of the car gives it practically a new body finish which is guaranteed to hold its luster, he says.

Hold Faculty Frolic In Park at Pasadena

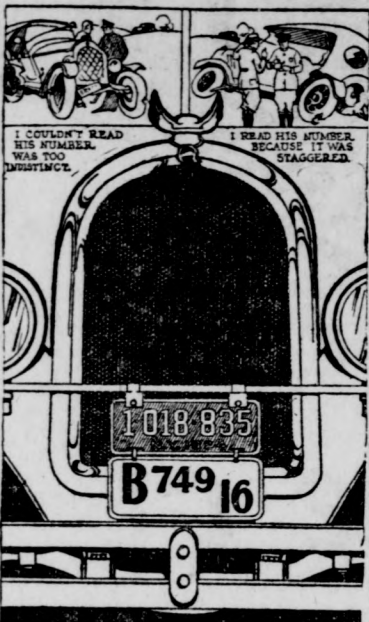

Wilson Intermediate teachers left Glendale at the close of school on Wednesday and hastened to Brookside park in Pasadena for a faculty frolic. The object of the party was to introduce the new teachers to the "old" ones and the introduction proved to be very hilarious. After being duly judged and punished for the rules that they had broken since the opening of school the new teachers were escorted to a table loaded with good things and a happy hour was spent picnicking.

Those who enjoyed the affair included: Miss Carrie M. Noble, principal; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacLennan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. Struble, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kent, Miss Mary Circle, Miss Helen Gould, Miss Ada Sallstrom, Miss Margaret Sharpe, Miss Pearl Webster, Miss Elizabeth C. New Plates

The top license plate shown is the standard type, while below it is the staggered plate, invented by WALTER P. CHRYSLER.

As a bit of public service, Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Chrysler Motor corporation and the Maxwell Motor sales corporation, has acquired patent rights and will make available to any state wishing to adopt, at no cost, the staggered license plate which he proposed some time ago as a practical step in the direction of reducing the number of motor car thefts, and as no less practical in the case of getting the number of a runaway motorist.

Mr. Chrysler several months ago expressed the opinion that by using the right combination of colors and by staggering the figures on automobile license plates to one figure whereby police and others could quickly read and remember motor car license plates. Communication concerning the plate should be addressed to the Chrysler Motor corporation, 347 Madison avenue, New York, N. Y., or Lyman P. Clark, general manager of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, local distributor for Chrysler cars.

J. V. Rea Believes In Keeping
Money In Glendale;
Aid to Patrons

"With my office in Glendale I can serve local patrons much easier and in the end there is a great saving to them," states J. V. Rea, of the Rea Investment Co., who is handling auto loans, re-financing contracts and making loans to motorists.

Mr. Rea states that he is finding the business very good in Glendale and that with the present system it is possible to keep the money in Glendale, rather than let it be spent in Los Angeles. Many motorists go to Los Angeles to procure loans and make auto contracts when there is no need of it with the office right in Glendale. Mr. Rea is also buying contracts and in doing this turns the money right back into local businesses.

BIG ENGINES FOR AUTOS REPLACED

W. P. Chrysler Points Out
Smaller Displacement
Is Being Used

The day of the big displacement engine in motor cars is over, in the opinion of Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor Corporations. He said as much in an interview given out in New York yesterday. The unmistakable trend in every kind of gasoline engine today is toward a small, light weight, high compression motor, capable of running well at low, intermediate or high speeds and extremely flexible, he pointed out.

Build Smaller
For the 500-mile Indianapolis race in 1926 cars must be built with a cubic inch displacement of not more than 96 inches.

"This is quite different from the type of engines used in the first 500-mile race in 1911," he said. "At that time engines with displacements up to 600 cubic inches were allowed. The little 118 to 122-inch cars which competed in the race there last Memorial day would have run rings around those big, cumbersome cars. The winning car at Indianapolis in 1911, which was 600 cubic inches displacement, averaged 74.08 miles an hour. Last Memorial day the winning car, with a displacement of 120.8 cubic inches—about one-fifth as large—averaged 98.24 miles an hour."

Same with Standards
"What has been accomplished by racing cars since 1911 has been duplicated by the manufacturers of passenger automobiles," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, Chrysler and Maxwell dealers. "The passenger engine of more than 300 cubic inches displacement is actually out of date today, save for exceptional instances. It carries too much weight for the performance of which it is capable."

"The car with a small, high compression engine can cover nearly twice as much distance in traffic today than the car of large displacement can possibly cover, and can do this without going at higher speed than the larger car."

Important Matters Before College Club

Business of paramount interest to the year's activity of the Glendale College Women's club will be considered Saturday afternoon at the club meeting and garden party at the home of Miss Charlotte Spier, 615 South Verdugo road.

Every member of the club has received a letter from Mrs. Frank Parr, club president, outlining matters of importance to be acted upon. They are given as the question of remaining a branch of the American Association of University Women; the amendment of the club by-laws so that dues not paid by November 1 will become delinquent; the question of keeping the club membership as an affiliated club of the Los Angeles Women's University club; the question of the club's pledging $100 to the Y. M. C. A., place of meeting for the year; and the club's sponsoring one of the Chamber of Commerce dinners.

OAKLAND ENGINE GETS REAL TEST

Policy of Company Is to Try Out Thoroughly
Before Selling

The Oakland Motor Car company does not believe in letting the purchaser of an Oakland discover any weakness in the engine of the car he buys. Judging from the manner in which every engine is tested prior to the time it is installed in the chassis as well as afterwards. "Every engine in an Oakland six is twice tested before it ever goes out from the factory," says John Neuschaefer, vice president Oakland dealer. The most important of these however, is the dynamometer test.

Use Dynamometer
"The dynamometer test is one of the most exacting, of any ever devised for this purpose and it positively turns up any weakness in the power, performance, construction and economy of a motor before it ever goes into a motor car."

"In the Oakland factory this test is watched with infinite care with a battery of eighteen dynamometers lined up at work constantly. This test entirely supplants the so-called block test which merely permits an engine to run at varying speeds for a stated number of hours, after which it is inspected to see that all bearings are set up properly and that proper clearances are provided for.

Eliminate Grief
"It is because of this extreme care in the testing of the engines that practically all of the grief that a motor car owner sometimes experiences is entirely eliminated in the engine. After a motor undergoes the dynamometer test it is disassembled and checked and then reassembled and put into the chassis. It is then subjected to a road test and the body is mounted on the chassis and the car shipped out for a delivery to the owner."

SPECIAL BATTERY MADE FOR RADIO

Willard Company Builds One
To Meet Requirements
For Such Service

"Early in the history of broadcasting," says Mr. Kuhn, of the E. W. Cizek Co., 300 South Brand boulevard, "T. A. Willard and his associates who have always led in the development of automobile batteries, saw that no then existing types of batteries met the peculiar requirements of radio service. In consequence they set to work to produce a new and original "B" battery—one that would be leak proof, that would deliver all its voltage for considerable periods without recharging. The result of their work is the Willard Radio "B" storage battery—entirely original in design—which accomplishes all that was desired and gives radio a new meaning for the average set owner."

"A wide air gap between cells prevents external electrical leakage. It would take a pressure of about 2,000 volts to leap the gap between adjacent cells, and a still higher voltage to bridge the even wider gaps between rows of cells."

"In preventing electrical leakage, the use of glass jars as containers for the individual cells plays a big part, glass being a superior insulating material. Another reason for the use of these glass jars is the fact that they enable one to see the condition of every cell at all times."

W. T. Moreland Returns From Journey In North

Watt L. Moreland, of the Moreland Motor Truck Co. has just returned from a week's trip through the Pacific northwest and finds the outlook most favorable. Farmers report good wheat crops and they are getting good prices for their products.

"Money is plentiful and the banks are ready and even eager to let the people have it," said Mr. Moreland. The political situation is also considered very favorable for a good business year ahead. In all the new fields where Moreland penetrated with its California-made trucks, there is a growing demand for them everywhere. In fact, as regards all kinds of manufactured goods, the entire west is gradually realizing that California is making wonderful strides industrially. As the west buys more western-made goods and is recognizing the quality of our manufactured goods they are getting into the habit of patronizing home products."

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Advertisement.

At The End Of A Perfect Drive

When MISS IDA HOCK, at the wheel of the Overland car, was given the "stop" signal by Capt. Loving of the Glendale police department, she had driven the car the final six hours of the 100 hour non-stop run. The car was entered in the run by B. W. SLOAN, INC., local distributors.

Entering a new 1924 Overland touring car in a 100-hour non-stop run in which more than thirty of the Southern California dealers participated, B. W. Sloan, Inc., 905 South Brand boulevard, on 9 o'clock, September 29, started their car on what should be called a "Wholesale Non-Stop Run." The car used was new stock just received from the factory. No special service of any kind was given the car, it was simply serviced and checked over just the same as if it were being delivered to a customer.

The purpose of the run was to demonstrate what an Overland could actually do for the purchaser of one of these cars. The car was started by Chief of Police J. D. Fraser, who checked the gas and oil, sealed the speedometer, locked the hood and then turned the keys and record book over to the Shell Oil Service station at Los Feliz boulevard, and San Fernando road. Incidentally, all refills on the drive were made at this station.

Mr. Sloan chauffeured the car for the first five hours and after that the car was kept running by the mechanics and employees of the sales force. The itinerary included the streets of Glendale, adjacent hills and canyons, San Bernardino, Riverside, Santa

Locking Caps For Cars

Beauty and utility are incorporated in the locking cap for motometers, shown in the accompanying picture. A salesman of the WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY CO. is explaining to the fair motoring devotee the advantages of equipping her new Maxwell coupe with one.

"Few motorists realize the true advantage of a locking radiator cap until their motometer is stolen and they are obliged to buy another," says C. H. Roudebush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Co.

"Here are some startling statistics that prove the need of such a cap. During a recent year a big insurance company paid out as much indemnity for stolen motometers as they did for stolen automobiles. Unless the motometer is fitted in a cap that locks to the radiator it is constantly inviting theft.

"Beauty and utility are incorporated in what is known as the Nobby locking radiator cap. Made of solid brass, it defies the hammer blows of the thief who attempts to remove it by force. The hinge is concealed and it is machined perfectly in every detail.

"Every owner wants his car to be beautiful and smart in appearance, yet he wants perfection for the motometer and cap. All this is accomplished in the Nobby cap," concluded Mr. Roudebush.

The night drive was not without thrills as in one instance the driver was nearly held up by a bandit. The last six hour run was made by Miss Ida M. Hock, the bookkeeper, and was finished on Friday, October 3, when the car was brought to a stop by Captain W. J. Loving of the Glendale police department.

An interesting phase in connection with the 100 hour non-stop run is the guessing contest which the company conducted. The mileage covered was 2097 miles, gas used 87 gallons; while only six quarts of oil were required. The car made an average of 24.1 miles per gallon of gas, and 349½ miles per quart of oil.

The judges have selected the following prize winners: First, A. J. Lilinthal of 342-A West Park avenue; second, H. J. Coleman of 1145 Green street. ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

CHERRY PITS IN THE EAR

"Dear Doctor:—We have no doctor in our little town and the nearest one is thirty miles over the mountains. On account of the time and hardship incident there to be charged $50 a trip, so you can see how much our town appreciates your advice, especially our babies.—Mrs. J."

Having in mind these places where there are no doctors available, I am going to give excerpts from an article written by Dr. O. J. Dixon, in the August 2 number of the American Medical Journal. It concerns a new method of removing foreign bodies from the ear with the help of dental cement.

Children at some period during childhood seem to think there may be some fun in sticking pebbles, beans, pits and like objects into their ears and noses. Unless these bodies can be removed easily, it is always best to take the child to a physician, because oftentimes efforts to remove them without the proper instruments result in their being pushed further in. If you are in a similar position to the mother whose letter I quoted, it might be a good idea to send to some dental supply house in your nearest big city, and have a small amount of dental cement on hand for such emergencies.

Here is the article. I'll change the technical names so that you will understand them.

"A mother recently brought her daughter, aged 9, to me for the removal of a cherry seed in the right ear canal, which had been there for ten months.

"Various attempts at removal during this time had failed, and the youngster was quite sensitive with regard to any manipulation about the ear. A smooth, round, large cherry pit could be seen which entirely filled the auditory canal, and was movable, but stayed close to the drum. Sudden movements of the head produced dizziness and a slight nausea.

"The mother's description of previous unsuccessful attempts to remove this foreign body induced me to try a new method. I dipped a camel's hair brush in liquid glue and held it firmly against the cherry pit for a minute or two. Apparently the warmth of the ear canal prevented the glue from setting, as there was no cohesion whatever.

"Next I tried furniture glue, with the same results. I left not only the cherry pit behind, but a considerable amount of glue, which was removed with difficulty. "Owing to the fact that the cherry pit had a hard, dry surface, I decided to try dental cement. This had the advantage of setting very rapidly, and it did not adhere to the surrounding tissues.

"The cement was mixed in the usual manner, and when fairly thick, the camel's hair brush containing a small lump of the cement, was inserted into the ear canal and held firmly against the cherry pit. This was held quickly for a couple of minutes and withdrawn.

"It was surprising how firmly the cement held to the seed as it passed through the external auditory meatus. There was no pain, and, aside from a red, inflamed drum, which condition rapidly cleared up, there was no further ear disturbance.

"The advantages of a quick setting cement are obvious; there is less trouble in holding the child still, as it sets quickly and does not cause any trouble if pieces break off in the ear canal.

"Small pebbles, glass beads, or any hard substance which completely fills the auditory canal and impedes the passage of a small instrument beyond it, can be removed easily by this method."

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Denies Another Marriage

This is a picture of PRINCESS HELEN VLORA, twice married, who denies that she intends to wed again. She is the former wife of Frank J. Gould, also that of Ralph Hill Thomas. It is rumored she is engaged, but she will not admit it.

The firmness with which Princess Helen Vlora, former wife of Frank J. Gould and Ralph Hill Thomas, is denying that she intends to marry again, is leading friends to believe that she has had enough of matrimony. The princess, whose most recent husband was a pretender to the throne of Albania, is reported to be engaged to an Italian marquis in Paris.

Hear Miss Burley

Miss Edith M. Burley, prominent in the Los Angeles child guidance clinic, was special guest and speaker yesterday of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle at the public library. Miss Burley spoke to sixty-five Glendale women, explaining the organization and purpose of the clinic and of the work being accomplished. She stated that those desiring to confer with her can reach her at 1401 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles. The circle members were happy to hear that their treasurer, Mrs. McLean, who is confined to a Burbank hospital with a badly broken arm, is recovering satisfactorily. She hopes to be able to return to her home at an early date. During the afternoon session yesterday Mrs. H. V. Henry continued reading from O'Shea's book, "Trend of the Teens."

Supper Friday

Glendale Royal Neighbors are completing plans for a covered dish social, to be held tomorrow night in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. Following the supper, an entertainment program will be given. Features of the program will be music by the Reynolds brothers, Hawaiian guitar players, of 719 North Central avenue; an entertainment by pupils of Miss Bernice Sibeck, Miss Helen Fisher giving two monologues and Miss Betty Mulholland giving a "Vanity Waltz." There will also be work by the degree staff of the Royal Neighbors. All members and visiting members are invited to attend and bring at least one friend. Those attending are to bring a covered dish, sandwiches and cake. Coffee, cream and sugar will be served.

Reception Tonight

Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Kline, of the Central avenue Methodist church will be tendered a reception by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society at the church tonight. Rev. Thousands of Dollars Squandered by Health Seekers in Trips to Famous Springs Can be Saved by Simple Home Treatment of Veronica Water

It has been an easy matter for high priced specialists to advise wealthy patients to take a trip to one of the famous Springs of America or Europe to there drink of the curative waters and regain lost health. But how about those folks in moderate circumstances who could not afford such a trip? Heretofore they have been forced to envy these wealthier sufferers at these renowned watering places while they, themselves, sat at home plying themselves with nauseous drugs which at best only afford temporary relief.

Now comes an eminent physician, J. F. T. Jenkins, M. D., of Los Angeles, who points a way whereby the benefits of one of the world's most famous Springs are brought within the reach of all.

Dr. Jenkins, in an article written while Editor of Los Angeles Polyclinic says: "If the thousands of people who leave the United States every year afflicted with various ailments to visit Hamburg, Carlsbad, Leamington and other well known watering places to drink the alkali-saline mineral waters there were to be advised to remain at home and take Veronica Water, much of the money squandered abroad would be saved. After a careful study of the merits of Veronica Mineral Water and its daily use in practice, I am forced

CHAPTER LXXIII

"Yes, but they never thought her interesting enough or out of the common enough to invite us to dinner, or send us a pair of gloves!" Dora said, without venom, when they departed. Craig laughed out shortly, and Cy Dwyer, who was a guest at the wedding merely because of the fortunate chance that had brought him to call upon Dora at four o'clock, said wonderingly:

"Somehow I can't see you wanting gloves, Butterfly! It must have been quite no end rotten, what?"

"No," Dora responded, dreamily. "It wasn't so bad. I—I had Hilary. I suppose I used to row when she made me practice and do verbs. But they don't seem so terrible now!"

Craig sent her a quick glance, unnoted. This was a new point of view for Butterfly.

"You must keep up your music while she's away this summer, Dora," he reminded her, and Cy said little face brightened at his tone, but with the attempt to reply came tears, and she stopped speaking, and looked at the fire through bright arrows and stars.

"Butterfly, if you feel this way about Hilary, I hate to think what it'll mean to you when some rough girl gets me!" Cy said, sympathetically.

"If you'll only stay round sensible girls, Cy, you needn't be afraid of ever getting married!" Dora answered, laughing shakily.

"Dear one, with that, I'm off!" Cy said. "Mrs. Spaulding, may I give you my arm to your motor, and fall all over you going down the steps?"

"Thank you, Cy," Mrs. Spaulding was beginning when Butterfly put an eager hand upon the older woman's arm, and said in alarm:

"Oh, Mother, please! You're going to stay with us tonight, please! We'll have supper early, and play three-handed bridge—Craig has the scores, haven't you, Craig?"

"Dear child, I can't. I believe I will, Dora," Craig's mother said, one phrase as definite as the next. She suddenly stooped to kiss Dora as she spoke. Craig, sunk into a deep chair, and watching his wife's fair head touch his mother's gray one, thought it was charming to see how close the two women had grown to be. Dora was the least demonstrative of persons, and his mother notorious for her aloofness, yet here they were, so close and soothed each other in a house that seemed suddenly blank and forlorn without Hilary.

She had been away for a night or two often before this. But there was a difference in the feeling that she would not come in, to evoke flights of glorious chords from the piano, to look up animated and argumentative from her tea-cup, to sit in the twilight murmuring and chuckling and exclaiming in undertones with Dora.

The bronze head and the blue velvet frocks were gone forever.

"Don't you feel—don't you feel as if someone were dead?" Dora asked, when Cy was long-gone, and they three sat on tired and quiet.

"I feel as if I were!" Craig answered, smiling. "Now, I'll tell you what I'm going to do, ladies. We're all full of messy salads and sandwiches; we won't dine until nine o'clock. Meanwhile, get into your big coats, and I'll take you to a lodge at the Rivoli. There's a delightful picture there, I understand—"

"Goodness!" approved his mother, who had a fondness for the screen. Dora's face brightened with pleasure. Hilary was gone; but there were still happy things to do.

"Six o'clock!" she said, thoughtfully. "I wonder where they are now?"

"Fifty miles away at least!" Craig opined, giving her his arm.

But Hilary and Konrad were not more than half a mile away, after all. They had driven up the Avenue only a few moments, had whisked through the foyer of an old hotel, and had been safe, since half-past five o'clock, in the quiet and warm and restfulness of the lofty, elegant old rooms that had sheltered many and many a bride.

The great windows of the suite looked down at the Avenue three stories below; an opal twilight lingered above the big stone building; omnibuses moved through a golden haze that ended far down toward the square.

The usual thousands were coming and going; motors honked and scuttled; women in bright spring headgear gathered at the crossings or lingered at the windows where hats and gowns were displayed. Hilary, standing in the window embrasure, with Konrad's arm about her, saw many a little office-worker hurrying along and wondered why one of them should have been singled out for the occupancy of this lofty room of pale peacock and cream hangings, this stately old carpet-faded scrolls, this softness, sweetness, beauty. Above the old mantel was a long mirror, and before it were bowls of violets; there were roses on the piano, and more violets in the room beyond, where she had put away the cock-plumed hat.

She had feared this hour, girl-fashioned, that she feared no longer. It was too beautiful, too quiet, and too filled with content. It had made her heart beat fast, an hour ago, when Konrad's big coat with its fur collar was hung beside her furs in her deep closet; but she had reminded herself sensibly that in a few days it would seem as natural to her to have this tall, black-headed man in her room, as to have Dora. Meanwhile, she felt the deep relief of being only second in command. The responsibilities of life had been hers so long; it was delicious to think of his having planned this, ordered the flowers, the dinner, the glowing coal fire, to have him as proud as a boy that nothing had gone amiss! Last night, lying awake, she had fancied that she would be rattling somewhere in a train tonight; she had imagined him picking some place for their trip that would mean the usual fatigues, cinders, dirt, heat, and chill.

"I can hardly believe it," she told him. "I imagined myself staggering into some cold hotel at about eight, dirty and tired from some trip, being stared at because you look like a celebrity, you know, even if people don't know just who you are!—walking through halls, and dressing for dinner! This is so different, and so wonderful!"

THE GATEWAY

It is no vain boast when Marshall Neilan claims to have selected one of the most auspicious casts ever gathered together in one photograph for his production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," the Metro-Goldwyn picture to be shown at the Gateway theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday. All of the players are extremely well-ness, beauty. Above the old mantel was a long mirror, and before it were bowls of violets; there were roses on the piano, and more violets in the room beyond, where she had put away the cock-plumed hat.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is a Louis B. Mayer presentation, and was adapted by Dorothy Farnum.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"A Prince There Was" showed last night to an enthusiastic audience at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre and will be presented again tonight, Friday and Saturday nights by the Dobinson Players, at 8:15 o'clock, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee, states Miss Eva Daniels, business manager.

John Vosburgh as Charles Martin, the "Prince," does good work and Marie Gray as Comfort is one of the high lights of the play, which is of the Cinderella type, modernized, with humor and mystery elements added for good measure.

William H. Stephens as Caruthers, the editor, is the typical big American business man. Carroll Nye, who has just completed a thirty-two weeks' engagement with the Wilkes Players at the Majestic theatre, Los Angeles, is fine as Bland, while Richard Eblers as Shorty, is a scream. George C. Pearce as Crickett is perfect. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as Gladys, Gertrude Kellar as Miss Woods, Thyra Rudland as Mrs. Prouty and Gertrude Rothe as Miss Vincent, are equally good.

The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock, nightly, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ACORNS

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" called Nurse Jane Fuzzly to the rabbit gentleman, as, one morning, she saw him hopping down the path toward the front gate.

"I am going to the woods," answered the bunny. "Listen! Do you not hear the woods calling me? I must go to the trees—they are calling."

Nurse Jane made both her little ears stand up straight and she listened as hard as she could.

"No, I don't hear anything," she said.

"Listen," whispered the bunny rabbit. "Don't you hear what the woods are saying? The branches of the trees are rustling and saying: 'Come and play with us!'"

And, the green moss under the trees says: 'Come and lie down, it will be a soft bed for you.' So I am going to the woods."

"I suppose you think you may have an adventure," spoke the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"I may," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I hope so."

He hopped to the woods, which were not far from his hollow stump bungalow, and he turned a somersault on the soft, green moss, because he felt so happy.

He shuffled his paws in the dried leaves, did Uncle Wiggily, and then, as he watched the tree branches waving a welcome to him, he heard another sound. It was a sound made by teeth when they are chewing something.

"Goodness me!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I hope that isn't the Fuzzy Fox sharpening his teeth on a stone so he can bite me. I had better watch out."

There was a rustling sound in the dried leaves, and Uncle Wiggily, looking through the trees saw—not a Fox, but Sammie and Susie Littletail, a rabbit boy and girl, gnawing the bark from a small oak tree.

"Oh, Sammie and Susie!" called Mr. Longears. "You shouldn't gnaw bark from the tree."

"Why not?" asked Sammie, taking another mouthful of bark.

"Because taking bark from a tree—especially if you take too much—will kill the tree," said Mr. Longears. "Bark to a tree is the same as skin and fur to you, Sammie and Susie. So don't gnaw the poor tree."

"All right," spoke Susie. "We'll go find a cabbage and eat that, Uncle Wiggily. Come on Sammie!"

Away hopped the rabbit children, and when they were gone Uncle Wiggily was sitting beneath the oak tree the tree's brown leaves whispered to him:

"Thank you for what you did, Uncle Wiggily. If Sammie and Susie had gnawed much more bark it would have been the end of us. And the tree felt so happy that it gave itself a little shake and down fell one of its acorns and hit Uncle Wiggily on the nose—bouncing off."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny. "Don't drop any more acorns on me, Oak Tree, or you will make my nose sore." So the bunny hopped out from beneath the tree. And, as he did so, all of a sudden, the Fuzzy Fox came skipping along. Right under the oak tree ran the Fox, crying:

"I'm hungry for ears! I'm hungry for ears! I'm going to nibble your ears, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, no, you aren't!" laughed the Oak Tree. And it gave itself a hard shake. Down showered a regular hail storm of acorns. The acorns hit the Fox on his nose, they bumped his eyes and jiggled on his tail. The acorns pelted the Fox very hard.

"Gurra! Gurra!" howled the bad chap. "Oh, what a terrible hail storm. The hail stones are making me sore. I'll go home and nibble you, some other day, Uncle Wiggily!" And away ran the Fox, for which the bunny was very glad.

"Thank you, Oak Tree," said the rabbit. "You saved my ears. And if the egg beater doesn't turn around so fast that it makes the butter knife dizzy, causing it to fall into the salt cellar, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the molasses bottle."

BEES TAKE FIFTH PLACE IN LEAGUE

Singleton Turns Back Tigers With Four Lone Hits; Seals Beat Seattle

By THREE STRIKES
For Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—John Singleton held the Vernon Tigers helpless in yesterday's tilt at Washington park and the Salt Lake Bees took the second game of the series 8 to 2 and incidentally took fifth place. The Essick batsmen were able to gather but four hits and were held scoreless up to the ninth when Singleton let up and donated two hits and the Tigers' pair of tallies.

Lefty O'Doul, Mormon outfielder, proved his ability with the stick, socking a pair of doubles and two singles in five times up. Lazzare cracked out a homer in the second with two Bees on the bags which helped Duffy Lewis tuck away the victory.

Jimmy Christian started for the locals but after being nicked for ten bingles in six innings was replaced by Haycox, who hurled mediocre ball and was lifted in the eighth for Bernard to do his batting. Young Groat finished up the one-sided contest but was touched for a single and a triple in his only inning.

Oakland Trimmed
The Solons touched the "Great" Walter Mails for a clean victory yesterday, Oakland going down to the tune of 4 to 2.

The Seals came out the victors in a thirteen inning contest with Seattle yesterday, 8 to 6. Three pitchers worked for the Seals while two did mound duty for the Indians.

More rain at Portland prevented the Ducks and the Angels from tangling yesterday.

Deportation Charges May Come Up Again

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Canon William Chase of New York, will be given another hearing by the labor department before final action is taken in the case of Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine prize fighter, whom Chase is seeking to have deported, it has been announced. Commissioner of Immigration Curran at Ellis Island has recommended that the deportation proceedings against Firpo be withdrawn and the case is now before the bureau of investigation, for final decision.

Business as usual—that is our argument. Forget that is presidential year, vote your sentiments, and eat, sleep, drink, take care of your health, and live your life as usual and this awful quadrennial nightmare will disappear. It won't make more than a million dollars difference to most of us anyway who is elected president. It may make a lot of difference to our future welfare and happiness if we neglect our part as part of the general program of inactivity that is to be a feature of election year. See me today.

Last Night Races At Ascot Speedway

The final night racing program of the summer season at Ascot speedway will be staged Saturday night, October 11, with nine races on the card. New drivers will face the starting flag of "Babe" Doyle.

In addition to the Ascot favorites, Leon Dury, Frank Lookhart, Floyd Roberts and Cliff Bergere, Tom Alley and Gus Schrader will be seen.

The Italian Victory Crown will be the first event.

The longest race of the night will be the "Barbara Fritchie" sweepstakes for the Thomas Inc. trophy. The Cooper Hewitt stakes and the Sun Arc invitational are other events. Joe Bozzani will drive a Lancia car over a portion of the Thanksgiving Day road race course, with magnesium flares streaming from its rear, while the track and grounds are in darkness. The first race will start at 8:30 p. m. The regular weekly afternoon racing season will open on Sunday, October 26.

Coons Overcome Bears Three Straight Games

The Coons cast a dark shadow over the hopes of the Bears in the three-man contests last night at the Recreation alleys, when the Coons took three straight games. Anstey led the list with 205. Duncan was high score man for the losers, his best mark being 177.

Ban Johnson Reported Sick; Callers Denied

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Oct. 9.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, was confined to his bed at the Elms hotel here today, suffering from a cold. His condition was not regarded as serious, but the hotel management announced to callers that the baseball chieftain requested that he not be disturbed.

JOHNSON ADMITS HE HAS FINISHED

Washington Pitcher Trying To Secure Control of Oakland, Cal., Club

By GEORGE R. BARRY
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The big train has reached the end of the road. Like a tired old man, who has fought the good fight and now in the autumn sees about him the signs of the long rest, Walter Johnson somewhat sadly admitted today that he is through. There was a tinge of regret and real sadness in his voice as he spoke. In memory's background is the 18 years of service in the big league, always hoping and waiting that he could crowd his long and honorable career by working in a world's series, and then realizing it only after Time had sapped his arm of its strength.

Defeated Twice
Twice now the "big smoke" has started in the series, and twice he has bowed his venerable, though still sandy head to the onward march of youth and vigor. The end of the road was reached in yesterday's game, when young Lindstrom, who was in diapers when Walter Johnson made his debut in the big leagues, cracked four hits off his delivery in four times at bat. Lindstrom is 18; Johnson is 38. In that span, baseball life has been lived. "I guess I'm through," said Walter to the writer today. He had just got up. The hour was late for athletes to arise, but age will tell. "My contract with the Washington club has expired. I don't think it will be renewed." And, yet, in baseball's sometimes bitter valhalla, it was the future that the Big Train spoke of, even though his thoughts may have been in the past.

Think of Future
"I must think of the future," he said. "My family is coming along," this with a gesture that indicated his brood of four children. "My plans are still indefinite, but I hope to secure control of some ball club in California where I can still pitch occasionally. There is a deal on, but negotiations have not yet reached the stage where anything is certain. But I believe next year will find me on the coast."

Johnson is negotiating for control of the Oakland, Cal., franchise in the coast league. He expects to spend the winter in Reno, with occasional trips to the coast.

LEADER OF REDS CALLED BY DEATH

J. Daubert, With Cincinnati Six Years, Dies After Double Operation

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—Weakened by a double operation, Jake Daubert, captain and veteran first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, died early today. Blood transfusions, attempted yesterday as a last desperate effort to save the ball player, were futile.

Daubert, who was 39 years of age, was extremely popular with the fans. He had been on the team six seasons, starting the year Cincinnati won a world championship, largely by Daubert's heavy hitting and clever work at first base.

Double Operation
Mrs. Daubert was with him when he died at Good Samaritan hospital. His home was Schuylkillhaven, Pa. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. A son, George, is a freshman at Pennsylvania State college.

Daubert was struck on the head by a ball pitched by Allan Sotherton at St. Louis last May. Last week he was operated upon for appendicitis and gall bladder trouble.

First Train New York To Chicago Recalled

The first railroad train passing over the New York Central to Chicago and the Little blacksmith shop at South Bend, Ind., owned and operated by the Studebaker Brothers, manufacturers of the Studebaker automobile, are vivid memories of Mrs. Sarah Fisher Moomaw, who celebrated her 84th birthday yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank B. Yoder, 1239 East Harvard street. During the day she was showered with greetings and gifts from relatives and friends near and far.

Mrs. Moomaw is the mother of ten children. With her parents, she was one of the pioneer settlers of Indiana. The Studebaker Brothers' blacksmith shop was located near her home. Although having a big place in her heart for the Hoosier state, Mrs. Moomaw loves Southern California, and particularly Glendale, she says.

Civic Center Committee Plans Action Tomorrow

Plans for the campaign to assure success for the Civic Center bond proposition at the November 4 election will be outlined at a meeting to be held 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, October 10, at committee headquarters east of Brand boulevard on Harvard street. Chairman D. H. Smith will preside. The meeting is open to all who favor this issue.

The meeting is the outgrowth of a preliminary hearing held yesterday morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, D. H. Smith, L. H. Wilson, O. M. Newby, H. M. Butts and Alexander Mitchell attending.

Northwest Association To Take Up Bond Issue

The Civic Center bond proposition is scheduled for discussion tonight at the regular monthly meeting of the Greater Northwest Improvement association, according to J. H. Randall, president. The meeting will be held at the Grand View school at 8 o'clock.

Parent Teachers Name Heads of Committees

In furthering the organization of the Colorado Parent-Teachers' association for the new year, Mrs. Frank W. Parr, president, has appointed the following chairmen: Miss Ida D. Waite, membership; Mrs. Frank Arnold, program; Mrs. E. S. McKee, finance; Mrs. S. L. Gillan, courtesy; Mrs. W. F. Althouse, education; Mrs. W. F. Rudolph, patriotism and thrift; Mrs. Harold Parker, playground and kindergarten; Mrs. B. Veenboer, emblems and magazines; Mrs. Parr, publicity; Mrs. H. W. Reed, philanthropy, juvenile protection and child welfare; Miss Waite, better films.

SAFE DRIVING AT ALL TIMES URGED

L. M. Fisher Tells Need Of Constant Carefulness During School Days

Safety should be enforced at all times, declares L. M. Fisher, of 520 Porter street, but stress should be placed on the idea of safety now more than any other time, he believes. Mr. Fisher has just returned from a two-weeks' business trip to Oakland and San Francisco and had opportunity to observe the safety and clean-up ideas "inaugurated in the bay cities."

"School days are here," Mr. Fisher said, "and motorists should be more careful than ever. They should be constantly reminded of the danger attending speeding and reckless driving. Children darting out from between parked cars at the curb are never seen until almost too late, unless the car is running at a moderate speed and can be stopped in a very short distance. I would suggest signs or stickers to paste on the windshields, so the drivers would have something in front of them all the time to remind them speeding and reckless driving is dangerous."

Another matter that was forcibly brought to my attention while in the north was the strides being made by cities to clean up all the vacant lots, unsightly places and to beautify the city in general. Much could be accomplished along that line in Glendale, especially on Brand boulevard.

"I will never understand why the boulevard was made beautiful north of Windsor road and allowed to become an eyesore south of that street. We are, no doubt, neglectful because it does not affect our own particular home and our own property, but there ought to be a certain amount of pride displayed by every citizen."

INDUSTRIES FOR GLENDALE URGED

Survey to Solve Problems Suggested by Speaker At C. C. Luncheon

concentrate on getting only the best. Industries having a local market are not the best. Make your survey. Isolate a locality for high class industries. Employ industrial architects to design buildings which will be a credit to the city, and make an ideal industrial district."

Mr. Berman outlined some of the plans being followed by other cities in securing industries, and complimented Glendale and the Chamber of Commerce on the start that had been made to bring factories to this city.

Pledges Support

C. R. Smurr, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific Co., pledged the support of the company's industrial department, and the assistance of their industrial engineers in helping Glendale to expand industrially. He said the company had "tied in" 100 acres of their lines in Glendale in the past year, enabling the company to install trackage as needed. He told of the change in sentiment toward industries in the last four years here.

George Karr, second vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the luncheon. He explained the purpose of the gathering, and announced that meetings would be held each Thursday noon. Every person in Glendale is urged to attend the luncheons, he said, and particularly newcomers.

It was announced that Milford Coye could be in charge of the meeting next week.

Attend Luncheon

Among those present at the luncheon were: George Karr, Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, C. R. Smurr, Oscar A. Berman, Harry G. Kinch, D. H. Smith, Lawrence H. Grady, Mrs. M. E. Persch, H. L. Coleman, A. Bert Gottlieb, Mike Kaufman, J. Arthur Myers, Fred B. Walton, Milford Coye, Dr. C. E. Thompson, Dr. S. A. Allen, J. S. Whittier, Daniel Campbell, C. A. Haskins, J. J. Hinch, P. J. Dougherty, J. C. Reilly, Frederick Reniecke, A. T. Cowan, W. F. Tower, L. H. Wilson, P. J. Hayselden, Harry MacBain, M. M. Lee, Ed N. Radke, Frank H. Pilling, George F. Orgibet, C. E. Michael, Henry M. Kuhn, Ryland Sizer, H. W. McGuire, J. H. Halberstadt and C. S. Haynes.

J. Arthur Myers led the community singing, with Mike Kaufman at the piano.

The members of the permanent committee in charge of the weekly luncheon meetings are: Milford Coye, chairman; Frederick Reniecke, C. E. Michael, George F. Orgibet and J. Arthur Myers. Mr. Coye is former president of the Kiwanis club of Tacoma, Wash., while Mr. Orgibet, before coming to Glendale, was president of the Chamber of Commerce of Redondo Beach. The committee will meet next Saturday noon at the Kopper Kettle to complete arrangements for next week's luncheon.

Contralto to Feature Symphony Concert Bill

Mrs. Virginia Biddlecom, contralto soloist, will be heard at the concert planned by the Glendale symphony orchestra at the Glendale Intermediate school auditorium, corner Glendale avenue and Park avenue, Tuesday, October 14, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Biddlecom is a soloist of note, having appeared with the Temple Opera Co. for a number of years in "Bohemian Girl," "Fra Diavolo" and "Floradora." She also sang with the King Dodo Co., later being concert soloist with the Santa Monica and Fresno bands. She studied under Franz Aremis, Carl Morris and Harry Girard. The concert is free and the public is invited.

Office Change Made By Southern Pacific

Arthur Rehbold, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific Co., who has been in charge of the city ticket office at 106 North Brand boulevard, has been transferred to the Chicago offices as a special representative of the company. Harry G. Kinch, formerly in the Los Angeles office, becomes traveling passenger agent in charge of the Glendale office. Mr. Kinch also has charge of the Beverly Hills office.

Child Victim of Burns Rests After Operation

Hopie Ann Jacoby, 20-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Jacoby, of 800 East Chestnut street, who was burned severely a few months ago by boiling coffee, was operated upon yesterday at the White Memorial hospital, Los Angeles. Mrs. Jacoby stated this morning that her little daughter bore the operation with courage. The operation was necessary to remove the scars left after the accident.

LICENSED TO WED

Lee Robertson de Renault, 34, Glendale, Janine, E. Rothwell, 22, Los Angeles.

Jack E. Cain, 25, Los Angeles; Eleanor A. Brice, 19, Glendale.

Joseph A. Cope, 21, Glendale; Reva M. Dean, 21, Glendale.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get the mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Glendale Real Estate Sales Take Big Jump

A decided quickening of the public interest in all branches of real estate is evinced by the report from the Dietrich Realty Co., 123 1/2 South Brand boulevard, of $70,000 worth of sales made during the past two weeks. The report was made by Mrs. Ethel Gaskill, who declared that the buyers' market prevailing throughout the summer is now changing rapidly and conditions indicate a winter of big activity.

Mrs. Gaskill lists the following sales through her office during the past fortnight: Two-story hollow tile house, southwest corner of Pacific avenue and Eighth street, to Mrs. Blanche C. McKeever of Los Angeles; property at 615 West Wilson avenue, to Mrs. G. F. Harris of Sherman; southwest corner of Pacific avenue and Sunset drive, to Mrs. Richie of Glendale; property at 437 East Loraine street, to J. Walton of 500 South Adams street; property at 2415 Montclair street, Los Angeles, to Nathan Rigdon of Glendale; property at 401-403 East Stocker street to E. H. Owens of 1315 Thompson street; third lot west of Burr avenue, La Canada, on the north side of Verdugo road, to David Brockie of 615 Spencer place; lot No. 58, Ridgeway drive, to Mrs. Goodman of Wing street; northeast corner of Pacific avenue and Myrtle street to Rev. Walter C. Graves of Los Angeles.

Colonial Beauty

THE vogue for light woodwork is more than a temporary fancy in interior decoration. Back of it is the tradition handed down from Colonial days, when the best homes boasted all white woodwork. It bids fair to endure indefinitely, as light interiors appeal to that fundamental trait in human nature—a love of bright and cheerful surroundings.

Colonial decorations are made possible in your home by BASS-HUETER Gold Seal Enamel. It is available in Colonial white and in the popular shades of old ivory and French gray in both gloss and egg-shell finishes. Full directions for application are on each can. You will be surprised how its use will improve your house.

Student Body Office Candidates Presented

Candidates for the student body offices, who are up for election today, were presented to the assembled students of the Glendale Intermediate school at an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday. The assembly program opened with a selection by the Boys' Glee club under the direction of Miss Mildred Hughes. Norman Whytock, principal of the school, then introduced the candidates as follows:

For president, Betty Biggs of the A-8-I class and Alessandro Madrid, of the B-8-I class. For vice-president, Virgil Davis, A-7-I, Obed Lucas, B-8-II, B. J. Ruyne, for secretary, Dorothy Brown, A-8-I, Frances Dundas, B-7-I, Margaret Baum, B-8-III, George Towne, A-8-I, Julian Zuniga, A-7-II.

Following the introduction of candidates a number of stirring campaign speeches were made from the floor.
